PFIZER WITHDRAWS REQUEST FOR EMERGENCY USE PERMIT

The US company was the first drugmaker to apply for emergency use authorisation of its Covid-19 vaccine in India on Dec 5, 2020

EXPERTS COMMITTEE DENIED NOD: REPORTS

The move comes after an expert panel of India's drugs regulatory authority reportedly recommended against granting approval to the firm at this stage. On February 3, the Subject Expert Committee of the Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation had taken up Pfizer's application for its Covid-19 vaccine that it has developed with Germany's BioNTech

PANEL FLAGS SERIOUS ADVERSE EVENTS

- The committee in its meeting on Wednesday noted incidents of palsy, anaphylaxis and other serious adverse events after the vaccine's approvals in some other countries
- The panel was also worried that Pfizer had not spelt out a plan to generate safety/ immunogenicity data for the Indian population

RBI allows retail investors direct access to G-Secs

Decision will help Centre meet its market borrowing target in the next financial year

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

IN a game-changer move, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Friday said it would allow retail investors to buy government bonds directly from it.

Currently, retail investors can only buy gilt or government issued bonds through a platform on the National Stock Exchange. However, this is not very popular.

The RBI platform for G-Secs is likely to be dubbed Retail Direct, though its details have not been shared. The current yield on a 10-year government bond is 6.126%. Bonds with shorter tenor yield less as interest.

"As far as I know, very few countries like the US and Brazil allow this. In Asia, we are the first country to do it," RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das told reporters on Friday soon after the monetary policy meeting.

The move to attract retail investors to the gilt market will help the government meet its market borrowing target of ₹12 lakh crore. Analysts said the reason why RBI is opening up a direct gilt trading window for small buyers is to widen the market for government bonds and to keep the interest rate paid by the government low.

"While a promising move, a lot will depend on the platform and parallel investment opportunities available," said Nimish Shah, chief investment officer, Waterfield Advisors.

Meanwhile, RBI's six-member monetary policy committee did not spring any surprises on Friday as key policy rates were kept unchanged. Repo and reverse repo rates currently stand at record low levels of 4% and 3.35%, respectively.

Among others, the first monetary policy announcement after the Union Budget 2021-22 had a few key elements: restoration of the cash reserve ratio (CRR) to 4% in a gradual manner. CRR is the share a bank's total deposits that is parked with RBI. Banks don't earn interest on this amount.

RBI also said it estimates India's GDP growth at 10.5% during FY22, with an optimistic outlook on economic recovery. Rural demand is likely to be resilient on good agricultural prospects while urban demand and demand for contact intensive services is expected to strengthen with fall in Covid cases and mass-vaccination drive.

Consumer confidence is likely to remain upbeat as demand has moved beyond the 'pent-up' phase to actual demand.

The central banks said inflation has returned within its 'tolerance band', revising inflation at 5.2% for Q4FY21 from 5.8% earlier). P13

Chakka jam today outside Delhi, UP, U'khand

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chandigarh/Jaipur/Lucknow/New Delhi

WITH the government on Friday strongly defending the farm laws in Rajya Sabha despite protests against them gathering momentum, farmers unions said that the chakka jam planned for Saturday will not take place in UP, Uttarakhand and Delhi, but will cover other parts of the country, including southern states.

While agriculture minister Narendra Singh Tomar said the offer to amend the laws should not be viewed as if they had flaws, the Opposition demanded that they be repealed and fresh ones brought after talks.

At the protest site, the Samyukta Kisan Morcha (SKM) announced their action plan on the chakka jam following a meeting between Balbir Singh Rajewal and Rakesh Tikait. "As sugarcane harvesting is on in UP and Uttarakhand, farmers will be busy. The SKM has decided that farmers in these two states will not resort to chakka jam and will submit memos to the deputy commissioners. Delhi is also kept away from tomorrow's stir, though it will cover the rest of the country," said Tikait and Rajewal.

Tikait welcomed the support from international artistes and activists, including Rihanna and Greta Thunberg, but admitted he didn't know them.

The SKM' said only national and state highways are to be jammed from 12 noon to 3 pm. The farmer leaders appealed to keep it peaceful. Sources said farmer unions fear angry outbursts in UP's Pilibhit belt as the kisans there are upset over the deaths of some of their comrades. "That's why the blockade has been called off in these areas," said a source.

Two mahapanchayats, one each in Rajasthan's Dausa and Shamli in western UP, drew massive crowds. While Dausa is Congress leader Sachin Pilot's pocket burough, the Shamli event was organised by SP and RLD. P10

AMID the on-and-off buzz of change in leadership, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Friday said that as long as Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union Home minister Amit Shah have confidence in him, along with the blessings of people of Karnataka, he will continue to remain as Chief Minister of Karnataka.

"Opposition leaders are dreaming of me resigning from the post. I am putting all speculation to rest," he said.

He was responding to demands by Congress leaders that he should resign after his name came up in a land denotification case. "These days, anyone can apply for an RTI and make allegations against public representatives. Let hundred such cases come up against me, I will face them and win," a combative Yediyurappa said.

Hitting out at Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah, he said that several national-level Congress leaders are facing charges and have come out on bail. "Even during your government, ministers faced charges of corruption. You were smart enough to create a separate Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) and hand over all corruption cases to them. You also changed the word 'denotification' to 'redo'. But I am not as smart as you are," the 78-year-old leader said.

Replying to the House, Yediyurappa said that he gets ever more motivated when he comes across challenges. "In the last five decades of my political career, it is such challenges that have made me strong. I have faced hundreds of challenges and won. Power is a tool to help people and no one should practice politics of hatred," he said. P7

Relief at last for comedian Faruqui as SC grants bail

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday granted interim bail to stand-up comedian Munawar Faruqui who was arrested by the Madhya Pradesh Police for allegedly hurting the sentiments of Hindus during a show.

"The petitioner (Faruqui) is released on ad-interim bail on conditions to the satisfaction of the trial court," a bench headed by Justices R F Nariman ordered. While issuing notice to the Madhya Pradesh government on Faruqui's plea, it also stayed a warrant for production of the comedian in Uttar Pradesh in another case.

The bench granted interim bail to the comedian after it was pointed out that procedure under Section 41 of CrPC and the law laid down by the SC with regard to arrest weren't followed.

On behalf of the comedian, advocate Saurabh Kirpal termed it a case of victimisation and said the allegations made in the FIR were vague. He argued that a person cannot be arrested unless there is a magistrate's order or a warrant, which is stated in Section 41 of the criminal code, and the law laid down by the Supreme Court with regard to arrest weren't followed. "Do you say that Section 41 CrPC was not followed as per our 2014 judgment," the bench asked. Kirpal said it wasn't and his client was being harassed. Faruqui was arrested on January 1 by the MP Police in Indore. On January 28, the HC dismissed the bail pleas of Faruqui and fellow comedian Nalin Yadav.

Startups will drive Indian economy soon: Defmin

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THERE is a boon to defence startups in the country, as the Defence Acquisition Procedure 2020 allows these fresh-off-the-block companies to participate in Make in India projects. Also, ₹100 crore has been reserved for Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs), Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said here on Friday, taking part in "Start-up Manthan" on the last day of three-day Aero India 2021.

He said that the Indian economy will be soon driven by startups. The government is acutely aware that being the latest entrants into the defence manufacturing sector, startups require that extra push. Among many steps, the government is opening up patents and Defence Research and Development Laboratories (DRDL) to private industries, setting up Young Scientist labs in niche technology areas and launching programmes like iDEX, Defence India Start-up Challenge and iDEX4Fauji, he said.

iDEX start-ups have developed products worth ₹100 core that were displayed at Aero India 2021, while iDEX4Fauji will recognise and reward Indian soldiers and service personnel as innovators.

Corruption will be rooted out of BDA, says CM

Agency will adopt tech, turn people-friendly

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister BS Yediyurappa on Friday assured the assembly that in the next four or five months, there will be positive visible changes in Bangalore Development Authority. Apart from the introduction of technology, BDA will be made people-friendly, and the government will also take measures to bring down corruption.

The State government has a dedicated special investigation team to probe irregularities in the BDA, and will investigate site allocation and other irregularities, the CM said.

Replying to the House, Yediyurappa said that since June 2020, they had busted many illegal rackets worth ₹400 crore. This apart, they have discovered that 300 acres of land, worth ₹3,000 crore, is illegally encroached. Criminal cases have been filed against the accused and the encroached land has been reclaimed by BDA. Since 2019, 22 officials have been placed under suspension.

The CM also said that the BDA system will be completely computerised. For e-auction, BDA will be using GeoTags, so that anyone can check the sites from anywhere in the world. As on date, this financial year, as many as 1,572 sites were auctioned and ₹1,422 crore collected, making it the highest-ever revenue collection, the CM said.

Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa speaks during the Assembly session on Friday

On KG Layout, Yediyurappa said as many as 22,521 sites of various dimension has been allotted. Work on water supply and drainage is going on. For Arkavathy Layout, 2,000 sites will be given to farmers, and owners of the land by this month-end. Shivarama Karanth Layout work is also under progress. They are also bringing in an amendment to the BDA Act to transfer officials who are working in the same place for more than three years, to other urban development boards.

TBM to start drilling from Vellara to Langford Jn

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

A crucial part of the first indigenously assembled tunnel boring machine (TBM) of Bengaluru Metro was lowered 60 feet below the ground at Vellara Junction on Thursday night. This kickstarts the tunnelling process from Vellara towards Langford Junction, which forms part of the underground corridor of the Red Line of Phase-II. What makes it unique is that the parts manufactured in Germany were imported, assembled in Chennai and transported via road to Bengaluru.

"This is the first indigenously-readied TBM for Bengaluru Metro. We have imported six TBMs from China for Metro Phase-II and three are to be readied at Chennai. This TBM is the first, while the other two are now clearing the Factory Assessment Test," said a BMRCL source.

The lowering of the 'middle' section of the TBM continued for 30 minutes

The lowering of the 'middle' section of the TBM began at 9pm and continued very gradually for 30 minutes, the source said. The 'cutter head' and 'tail' will be lowered in the coming week, and the three parts will be assembled below ground.

The whole process was facilitated by a special Gantry crane, the first-of-its-kind to be used by BMRCL. "With the TBM weighing 130 tonnes, we needed something that can handle such a heavy load. This crane weighs 700 tonnes and can carry it comfortably," he said. The crane will remain at the spot till tunnelling work is complete, as it needs to lift the TBM back to the ground," he said.

After drilling 700 metres, it will reach Langford, and begin tunnelling in the reverse direction, the source added.

The 13.92-km underground network between Nagawara and Dairy Circle Kalena Agrahara (formerly Gottigere) is part of the 21-km Red Line between Nagawara and Kalena Agrahara. The UG corridor is divided into four packages, where boring machines have completed various levels of drilling — TBM Avni is drilling from Shivajinagar to MG Road and has completed 270 metres, TBM Lavi is yet to start in the same direction, in the Cantonment to Shivajinagar package, Urja has completed 260 metres in the onward direction, while TBM Vindhya, which began in the same direction, has completed 100 metres. The stretch between Tannery Road and Nagawara hasn't started as the TBMs are yet to arrive from Chennai.

BMRCL MD Ajay Seth said the deadline for completion of the Underground Corridor is December 2024.

St Joseph's College will soon turn into university, Council passes bill

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Legislative Council on Friday passed a bill allowing the oldest college in Bengaluru, St Joseph's, to be accorded the status of university. The bill now wait for the approval of Governor Vajubhai Vala.

JDS supported BJP on the St Joseph's University Bill 2021. During the discussion, JDS MLC N Appaji Gowda, sounding emotional, said that he was honoured to be an alumnus of the college in the eighties. He said that he had come from Nagamangala in Mandya and the college opened doors for him.

The institution accepted all, including the underprivileged and the downtrodden, without discriminating against any caste or community. "feel privileged to be a member of this House when this bill has been taken up for discussion," he added.

The Congress, which has opposed many bills in the Council, backed the legislation. Congress members Allum Veerabhadrappa, a former KPCC president, and former Ranji Cricketer Prakash Rathod too supported the bill. The college will be aided by the state and Centre and will serve as a centre of excellence for research, skill development and innovation through continuing education.

The College is over 150 years old and has an ensemble of big names passing out the institution.

BBMP begins clean-up drive ahead of Swachh ranking

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

JUST ahead of the Swachh Sarvekshan ranking, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has intensified its clean-up drive.

It has started to press upon people to get their opinion on the city's garbage condition, irrespective of whether it is good or bad. This is being done with the aim to improve Bengaluru's ranking this year. Last year, the city had slipped by 20 spots and had ranked 214 among all cities in garbage management. The city's national ranking was 37 in the category of population over 40 lakh in garbage management.

The city received a zero out of 100 in garbage free city category and citizen participation was only 50 per cent against what was expected.

"We know that we will fare poor in garbage management, so we are stressing on getting more feedback and involvement from people. Our target is to get at least 1 lakh feedbacks from people and so far it is 60,000," a senior BBMP official told TNIE.

The BBMP is now targeting those attending ward committee meetings and obtaining services through the Sahaaya App to get feedback. They are giving them forms or sharing links to get feedback. The BBMP is also aggressively advertising and asking people to segregate waste before disposal and warning them of penalty if they don't follow solid waste management rules.

Experts said, "BBMP is very anxious of the rating after it pulled up the National Green Tribunal last week, over poor garbage management and for the condition of landfills waste processing sites."

BBMP Special Commissioner, SWM, Randeep D, said to address the issue, special purpose vehicles will also be launched soon and the issue of transportation of garbage is being addressed. Besides, tenders are also being called for garbage management at the ward-level.

You can go on self-drive trails now, JLR offers curated tours

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO give a boost to the sector, the tourism industry has adopted an Europe-based concept of self-drive trails, where people can take their own vehicle to a destination in curated tours.

The concept is new to India and is the first for Karnataka. The Jungle Lodges and Resorts (JLR) will give a different and economical package for guests, where tourists in groups will drive to the destination in their vehicles. The tour is curated and organised by JLR. The first vehicle will be of the guide appointed by the government, JLR MD Kumar Pushkar told TNIE.

In the first phase to promote it from February to May, 2021, the JLR has partnered with Skyway International Travels.

Four tours have been chalked out, one for each month, of five days each. The first tour will start from February 17. The tours will be to B R Hills, Bheemeshwari, Bandipur, Bhadra, Dandeli, Dubare, Jog, Hampi, Madikeri, Gokarna and Karwar. Booking will be on first-cum-first-serve basis.

Pushkar said, after May, there will no more group trips, but guests can organise their individual itineraries. "This works out cheaper and also suits the comfort of the guests. They have the option to bring in modulations to the itinerary," he added.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Mercury's magical role in your chart doesn't make you infallible, but it does mean that you are right more often than not. But then, you have to remember that partners also think they they're right! Perhaps you should listen to others just a little more.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You might be too preoccupied by professional or other ambitious matters to take any time off just now. If leisure activities are on the agenda, the priorities should be those which are practical and designed to enhance your status and standing in the community.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Give more attention to social gatherings, even if you had other plans. Also, take great care with all legal matters and anything affecting your normally high standards. Overseas trips and contacts could have more to do with business or serious pressures than with pleasure.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Certain planets make their exit from helpful sectors of your chart just as others enter, so it's very much a matter of swings and roundabouts. One of the best things you can do today is stop being just a face in the crowd, and draw attention to yourself for a change.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You're basking under one of those rare planetary alignments that could bring good fortune. It will help if you follow others' suggestions and remain open to ideas you'd normally ignore. Plus, don't provoke a partner unnecessarily, or they might give as good as they get!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You may have made too much of someone in the past, so much so that now they have come to expect what you can no longer deliver. The curious thing about today's problems is that they can probably be solved by throwing money at them. Of course, you have to pick the right target!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Not only do other people think they're right, they'll probably miss no opportunity to tell you so! Adopt a policy of amused tolerance in the face of partners, friends and colleagues who are all determined to go their own sweet way. You might try trusting someone for a change, as well!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
The Moon, invariably your most important planet, urges you to stay busy and try to make yourself useful. At home, you may make practical measures the number one priority, and take special precautions against breakages. A little extra care now will do you a power of good in the long run.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may put psychological conflicts to one side and go all out to achieve a major, but very personal, ambition. Realise that there is no conflict between your personal happiness and the greater good, and that you can help others while helping yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
When the Sun is as constructively aligned as it is today, you'd be a fool to keep plans and intentions to yourself any longer. Others are anxious to hear what you have to say and, as it happens, you've rarely been better placed to say it! All you have to do is choose the right words.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Secret spending and charitable giving are two of the strongest themes in your solar chart at the moment. The alternative is that you'll be a gift to conmen who will see you coming at five hundred paces! If someone makes a fantastic promise, check out the details before it's too late.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You still seem to be spending more than is good for you, especially if you've taken on commitments on behalf of others. All you need to do is make sure that your earning power matches your expenses. You'll balance the books in a relationship as well, repaying a favour to a friend in need.

TWO more vaccines - Russia's Sputnik V and Zydus Cadila - may become the third and fourth vaccines to be used in India, said experts at a discussion on Covid-19 vaccination issues and concerns on Friday.

The panel included Dr V Ravi, nodal officer for Karnataka's Task Force on Covid-19, Dr Vishal Rao, member of the Covid consultative group, Dr MK Sudarshan, chairman of Karnataka Covid-19 Technical Advisory Committee, and Dr Lokesh A, Sub Regional Team Leader, Karnataka, WHO India. The discussion was moderated by Dr Sachidanand, Vice Chancellor of Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences.

Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman announcing during the Union Budget speech, that India will get two more vaccines.

"While Covishield has 70% efficacy, data for 22,500 people showed satisfactory results which is why they were chosen by the Drug Controller General of India. The other reason for Indian vaccines to be chosen is that they are much cheaper than imported ones and can be stores at 2-8 degree Celsius temperature, while Pfizer's vaccine needs a storage facility with -70 degree Celsius temperature. However, we might get two new vaccines - Russia's Sputnik V which is undergoing phase 3 trials, and Zydus Cadila which is undergoing Phase 2 trials. Once the the trials are done, they will be looked at," said Dr Ravi.

Pfizer might have been the fifth vaccine, but the pharma giant has reportedly withdrawn its application for use in India.

Vaccine apprehensions

Experts pointed out that vaccine hesitancy needs to be addressed. "There has always been acceptance or refusal of vaccination. Even earlier, when small pox, measles, BCG and polio vaccines were introduced, there was hesitancy. Now there is hesitancy for the Covid vaccine, which is because these vaccines were introduced fast (roughly within a year of the disease outbreak) While many think that the numbers have gone down, and whether they need a vaccine, others are questioning safety and immunogenecity of the vaccine," Dr Sudharshan said.

He said that for now, heads of hospitals and medical colleges must take the shot themselves to instil confidence in the vaccine among health staff. "When they take it, it motivates others to come forwards. Heads of hospitals must check the vitals of people who say they have comorbidities, and monitor them, give them medicines, and follow up with them to get them immunised. Many have misconceptions that if they drink alcohol every day, they will have side-effects after getting the shot, but that is not true. All misconceptions must be removed by heads of hospitals," Dr Sudarshan said.

Dr Rao admitted that he himself had not taken the jab due to hesitancy. "Earlier there was lack of data on Indian vaccines and I was hesitant to take the vaccine myself. But now, leading journals like the Lancet have published a paper on these vaccines which has proved that it is efficient. I have registered and will get the jab soon. Right now, taking the vaccine is the only way we can keep Covid at bay. In the long run, it may also build herd immunity. Before the second wave starts, we (health workers should get vaccinated and ensure we are safe to treat the rest," Dr Rao said.

Dr Ravi said that Covaxin has shown a neutralizing effect with the UK variant of the virus while Covishield has lesser neutralising effect. "However both vaccines are good and must be taken," he said.

Govt needs to change tack to curb Covid spread now

Genome sequencing must go up to track virus mutations

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

Although immunisation against Covid has begun, wearing of masks, maintaining distance, and washing hands remain important | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

HEALTH experts say the state government should now start looking at the new 3Cs to move control the pandemic. Taking to Twitter, senior epidemiologist and member of the Covid Advisory Committee Dr Giridhara Babu said Coverage of Vaccine, Containment efforts to limit spread, and Continuing genetic sequencing of the virus is most important for the government now.

When the pandemic broke out, the mantra for Covid containment was Test, Trace and Treat. But now, experts say it is extremely important to ensure that vaccine coverage happens at a quick pace.

The coverage of at least 60% of the population at the current rate of progress will take a minimum of six months, said Dr Manjunath, Director of Jayadeva Institute of Cardiology. "Taking the vaccine is very important, but the government also needs to speed up the process. It will take a minimum of six months and maybe longer to vaccinate 60% of the population. We should not be complacent," he said.

He said that the existing 3Cs - avoid Closed spaces, Crowded places and Cover faces with masks - still need to be followed strictly, and added, "We are seeing sudden spurts in cases such as the Mangaluru nursing college incident etc. So we cannot afford to be complacent about this infection," he said.

Meanwhile, Dr Giridhar Babu explained that the government should continue its containment efforts as the chances of mutation in viruses are high when they are allowed to circulate. "Stronger containment efforts will help minimize mutant strains while offering more time for vaccination," he said.

Maintaining that it is important to regularly run genetic sequencing tests on Covid samples to keep tabs on mutations and share this data in real-time with the World Health Organisation, experts added that such tests were only being done on a limited scale in the country.

"It is an expensive affair and available only at two locations in the state including Nimhans. We should have at least at least one such facility in every division," Dr Manjunath said.

He said that one must encourage genomic surveillance as it is in the nature of viruses to mutate, and such information must be shared in real-time with other countries.

State close to vaccinating half of frontline workers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government is close to vaccinating 50% of health workers, amid vaccine hesitancy, which still remains an issue. As of 5.30 pm on Friday, the state had vaccinated 48% of health and frontline workers. On Friday, 27,825 people of the target of 88,403 got their first shot of the vaccine.

Meanwhile, the Union Health Ministry has asked states to ramp up awareness on Covid-19 vaccine to combat vaccine hesitancy. While the earlier deadline for completing the immunisation of health and frontline workers was in February, it has now likely to be completed only by April.

White rice does not trigger cardio, other health issues: Study

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A higher intake of refined grains is associated with a higher risk of total mortality and major cardiovascular diseases, stated a new research published in The BMJ, on Wednesday. The study was done among 1,37,130 adults across 21 countries. Researchers from St John's Research Institute in Bengaluru and other international universities collected data on demographics, lifestyle and eating habits, which was then compared to health outcomes. The participants were studied for nearly a decade.

It found that processed carbohydrates, like white bread, breakfast cereal, pasta, and pastries, could play a role in chronic disease, regardless of what else is in your diet. It specified that such foods are linked to heart disease risk. "Participants who ate 7-10 slices of white bread a day (or similar amount of refined carbs) were 33% more likely to have a heart attack or stroke, and 27% more likely to die," found the study.

But not all carbs were linked to health risks. Participants who ate a lot of whole grains and white rice didn't have a higher risk of disease and the study stated that they are healthier alternatives to processed carbs.

One of the researchers, Dr Sumathi Swaminathan, Division of Nutrition, St. John's Research Institute, St. John's National Academy of Health Sciences, said that improving the quality of carbohydrates could be an important factor in helping people maintain a healthy diet.

She said that the previous studies have been conducted mostly in North America and Europe with limited information from other parts of the world where the amount and types of carbohydrates consumed in the diet vary. This study has the "distinct advantage of examining diets from diverse populations in low, middle, and high-income countries in multiple regions across the world. The analysis reported here was conducted to evaluate the association of intake of refined grains, whole grains, and white rice with total mortality, major cardiovascular disease events, BP and blood lipids," she said.

It says these findings support a previous study that high carbohydrate consumption overall was linked to greater risk of heart disease. Contrary to previous studies, which have suggested that white rice can spike blood sugar levels and potentially increase the risk of diseases, this one found that the white rice is not associated with the same health risks as other refined grains.

Nutrition expert Dr Geetha D of a private hospital said this study can help the governments to frame nutritional guidelines.

"In many places, refined grains are provided as they are cheaper than whole grains. Public health agencies should be involved and guidelines planned accordingly," she said.

IT'S A WRAP

● Curtains come down on 3-day Aero India ● President hails air show as unprecedented success held amid pandemic ● Event will help India establish itself as manufacturing hub for the entire world, says Kovind who becomes first Prez to attend show

RAMU PATIL & NIRAD MUDUR
@Bengaluru

PRESIDENT Ram Nath Kovind on Friday hailed Aero India 2021 an "unprecedented success", adding that the event was "an ideal place for exchange of ideas and forge partnerships." Kovind — who became the first Indian President to grace the event physically (despite the pandemic) in the history of Aero India — was addressing the valedictory ceremony of the biennial air show at the Air Force Station Yelahanka.

He said the past year presented hardships due to the Covid-19 pandemic and its adverse impact is being felt across the world. But despite the challenges, Aero India 2021 was held without compromising its spirit and by following all protocols. "It was an ideal place for exchange of ideas and forge partnerships," he added.

Meanwhile, curtains came down on the three-day event on Friday, recording the mega event to be the very first in the world to be conducted in a hybrid mode and also roping in the President of India for the very first time since the event started in 1996.

The President emphasised India's ability and potential to be a manufacturing hub for the whole world, saying India was not just a market but a land of immense opportunities for the whole world, and the three-day event would further help the country to establish itself as a manufacturing hub for the entire world. "India has always been an ardent advocate of universal peace and development. IOR as an important region because of its rich natural resources and strategic location. We have floated the idea of SAGAR, which stands for Security And Growth for All in the Region, to promote cooperation in the Indian Ocean region," he said.

While the emphasis of the show was on "Atmanirbhar Bharat" (self-reliant India), Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, at the valedictory, made it clear that by self-reliance they did not mean to be isolated from the world, "but actually seek to promote globalisation by making India a more competitive player on the global stage and inviting global companies to set up shops in India." "Aero India will help achieve a turnover target of Rs 1.75 lakh crore and Rs 35,000 crore in export of aerospace and defence products by 2024," Singh said, adding that the government will invest $130 billion over the next seven to eight years to enhance security.

The President and his family were treated to a sparkling display of aerobatics and flypasts, which had not failed to enthral even those who had repeatedly watched the performances over the last three days.

Meanwhile, the Ministry of Defence appeared to have conducted the event with a degree of vengeance and a challenge in the face of the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic which even forced the scheduled Paris Air Show (June 21-27) to be cancelled owing to the pandemic.

While apprehensions were expressed ahead of the show over how many would participate, whether the show would take off at all, or even if it did, whether it would be a success, the event drew around 16,000 people in physical attendance while about 4.5 lakh participated in it in the virtual mode, including participants in seminars as well as those witnessing the flying display. At least 540 companies, including 34 foreign firms, participated in the event, during which 201 MoUs were signed, apart from 19 transfer-of-technologies, 13 product launches, and 32 major announcements were made. The MoUs were signed between domestic and foreign firms as well as state governments. The Indian Ocean Region (IOR) Defence Ministers conference and Chief of Air Staffs conclave were the highlight of the event. Also, Rs 203 crore worth orders were given to 45 MSMEs during the show.

However, due to Covid restrictions, the event had to be cut down to just three business days - unlike the five-day in the past with the last two days being open for the public.

HAL, IAF get integrated portal for better support

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF of Air Staff Air Chief Marshal RKS Bhadauria on Friday operationalised a unique real-time information-sharing portal that would make work processes of Hindustan Aeronautics Limited's (HAL) projects for the Indian Air Force (IAF) mutually transparent and quicker for the two organisations while ensuring higher quality as per IAF's combat requirements.

The operationalising of this portal, called HAL-Vayusena Inventory (HAVAI) portal, comes just two days after Defence Minister Rajnath Singh formally handed over the Rs 48,000 crore project of producing and delivering 83 LCA Tejas Mk-1A fighter aircraft to IAF by 2030. This portal, however, would be relevant for all projects of HAL for IAF from henceforth.

The proof of concept for the new portal was cleared for development in September 2015 by the then Defence Minister Manohar Parrikar under the Digital India initiative, and the project had the active involvement of Air Head Quarters in New Delhi and Director of IAF's enterprise resource planning platform, Integrated Materials Management Online System (IMMOLS).

While HAL and IAF each had their respective enterprise resource planning platforms – Industrial Financial System for HAL, and IMMOLS for IAF – the two organisations never had an integrated portal that could provide each other data on the requirements, project status and supply needs of the other.

Air Chief Bhadauria said, "The e-portal will bolster the competencies of IAF and HAL and lead to increased serviceability of IAF weapon systems. This would facilitate secure information sharing between IAF and HAL for better coordination, improved transparency and faster decision-making."

HAL Chairman and Managing Director R Madhavan also spoke on the occasion.

iDEX to boost self-reliance in defence, says Rajnath

DEFENCE Minister Rajnath Singh mentioned the work done by Lt Deepak Suman Kumar in Robotics in Maritime applications and by Maj Anoop Mishra in wall-penetrating radar.

The iDEX initiative will help achieve self-reliance and is one of the most effective and well-executed defence startup ecosystems, which is in the spirit of Aatmanirbhar Bharat, he said.

In all, 60 winners out of over 1,200 start-ups and innovators who participated in the Defence India Startup Challenge (DISC) have received grants of up to ₹1.5 crore each to build prototypes, he said, and added that defence officials should consider increasing funds available to Innovation for Defence Excellence (iDEX) start-ups.

US to Yelahanka: Bomber flew 26 hrs non-stop

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IT was a historic first for Aero India 2021: The United States Air Force's heavy bomber B-1B Lancer flew halfway around the globe -- taking 26 hours and four air-fuelling sessions -- to land at Yelahanka Air Force Base. The last time a US bomber had landed in India was in October 1945.

The supersonic bomber took part in the flypast at the inaugural ceremony, making it a major highlight of the air show that came to an end on Friday, and signalling the US' dedication to its partnership with India.

"It was a very important event for us. The flight took us about 26 hours to get over here with four separate air-refuelling sessions," USAF pilot Lt Col Michael Fessler said, sharing his experience. "The United States Air Force and government put a ton of emphasis on making sure we get here and operate with our IAF partners." The officer said the main objective of bringing the Bomber to the air show was to work on their partnership and build relationships with the Indian Air Force. Though the USAF and IAF have conducted joint exercises, the Bomber force was, by and large, never a part of it. "The B1B presence at Aero India was to broaden cooperation and our exposure to the Indian Air Force, and showcase what USAF can bring out to support India and our partnership in the Indo-Pacific region," he said.

Fessler was all praise for the Light Combat Aircraft (LCA) pilots who flew with the Bomber during the show. "I am really impressed with the Tejas pilots, their leadership, professionalism and skill are amazing," he said. "Unfortunately, I never had an opportunity to meet face-to-face the pilots who flew off our wing. However, they were just around 25 feet away in the air," the USAF pilots said.

Council chairman election next week, JDS' Horatti may make it

Congress may turn it into a contest by fielding own candidate

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Legislative Council Chairman is likely to be elected next week, as per the schedule of events.

Filing of nomination, scrutiny, withdrawal of nominations and the date of election will be decided by the Secretariat and the Upper House, which will be in session till February 10.

Among frontrunners for the post is JDS MLC Basavaraj Horatti, who is likely to be elected given the agreement between the JDS and BJP. The BJP has 31 members, JDS 13, and Congress 29 in the Council. The Congress may make it a contest by fielding Nasir Ahmed, who was recently elected, as its candidate.

Sources said that the Upper House will be in session till February 10, though the Lower House has been adjourned sine die. This the first time that the BJP has become the single-largest party in the Council. The election of Horatti, with the support of the saffron party, is likely to pave way for pending bills to be passed in the Council.

The ruling party was left red-faced on many occasions as the Congress, with its chairman Prathap Chandra Shetty – who has resigned since, and higher numbers, forced adjournment of the House without passing bills. The government then had to promulgate ordinances.

The JDS has acknowledged that Horatti, who has 14 months of his tenure left, is its candidate.

Can state cancel tender when court monitoring it: HC

Asks why Health Minister junked a tender worth ₹1,800 cr to procure ambulances

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

IN THE HC

CAN the State Government cancel the tender called to procure hi-tech ambulances without bringing it to the notice of the court when it was monitoring the tendering process?

A division bench of the high court, comprising Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum, questioned the State Government why Health and Family Welfare Minister Dr K Sudhakar cancelled a tender of Rs 1,800 crore.

The court allowed more time to the counsel of the petitioner, Bharat Punaruthana Trust, to amend the public interest litigation petition to include the minister as a party.

The court said that the affidavit filed by the Joint Secretary of the department holds all the factual aspects and the State Government should explain these issues.

The court said that there is not a single opinion on record to support the minister's claim that the order to cancel the tender was taken after obtaining the opinion of experts.

It was also not placed on record in which forum the matter was discussed before passing the order. The names of experts too were not revealed, it said.

The department joint secretary filed an affidavit, saying there are no written opinions of experts.

It appears from the government order, the court said, that the minister was not aware of the court monitoring the tender process.

To enable the petitioner to amend the petition to implead the minister as party, the matter was adjourned to February 25, 2021.

"It is a settled position that the acts of abstaining from court work or boycotting the court proceedings and the acts of the office bearers of the Bar Associations calling upon the members to abstain from court work or boycott the court proceedings amounts to interference with administration of justice. Advocates are officers of the court. They have obligations and duties to ensure smooth functioning of the court," he said.

Justice P Krishna Bhat of the Dharwad bench of HC, dismissed the plea filed by Bhuvaneshwar, in connection with a complaint filed by Jamkhandi resident Chidanand Ajjappa Mali on February 25, 2020. Mali had alleged that the sub-registrar had registered a piece of land based on a forged document that showed his consent to sell his share of the property in compromise decree in favour of Toufik Moulasab, who is one of the accused. Rao made these allegations a decade after contempt proceedings were dropped after he offered an apology for making similar allegations. Issuing contempt notice, a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum directed the Registrar-General of HC to forward a copy of the letter to the police officer in charge of court security. "We are satisfied that a prima facie case has been made out to initiate action against the accused. Such allegations will interfere with judicial proceedings," the court said.

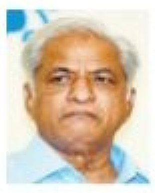
HALASURU Gate police on Friday issued notice to advocate Meera Raghavendra to appear for questioning, in connection to the ink attack on writer Prof K S Bhagawan on the premises of a court in Bengaluru on Thursday.



Two months earlier, Meera had filed a petition against Bhagawan, alleging he had hurt the sentiments of Hindus through his comments during a press conference. Following this, the court had issued summons.

On Thursday, Bhagawan was granted bail by the court. As he made his way outside, the advocate smeared ink on his face, and also posted a video of it on her social media account. Soon after, police registered a case against Meera for assault and criminal intimidation in attacking Bhagawan with ink.

Apart from filing a case, Bhagawan also approached the advocates' association seeking disciplinary action against Meera. Meanwhile, she claimed, "I have not received any notice from the police yet. I will cooperate in the investigation. I have received support from many people."

CM has given word on quota: Seer

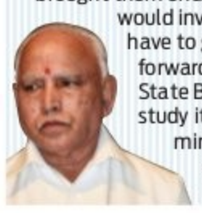
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chitradurga

VACHANANANDA Swami of the Panchamasali Gurupeet, Harihar, said he is confident of getting 2A reservation status for the community, and the government delegation sent by Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa had assured him of it.

He told TNIE from Hiriyur that Yediyurappa's statement in the assembly had given him much anguish. Yediyurappa had said the Karnataka State Backward Classes Commission would be asked to do a comprehensive study of the economic, social, educational and employment aspects of the community. However, the delegation of ministers and MLAs that had come from Bengaluru had given him a positive response on 2A reservation status, he said.

Yediyurappa advises patience

Bengaluru: Even as friendly fire from the Panchamsali seer threatened to singe him, CM Yediyurappa reacted cautiously. In an open letter, he reminded the community that his government had brought them under the '3B' tag, and said that inclusion into 2-A would involve a discussion with MPs as the issue would have to go before the central leadership. He said he had forwarded the reservation proposal to the Karnataka State Backward Classes Commission, which would study it and give feedback. Lingayat Panchamsali ministers Murugesh Nirani and C C Patil had met the protesters in Chitradurga on Thursday. ENS



While the context of the CM's statement is not known, he has assured the community, the seer said. This was seconded by the delegation, which said that Yediyurappa had assured the seer of 2A reservation and informed them to hold discussions with Minister for Parliamentary Affairs Basavaraj Bommai and take a delegation to the Centre.

"The struggle for reservation is for poor Panchamasali people who do petty jobs. We want to bring them into the mainstream of society and will not drop our demand till our padayatra reaches Bengaluru," Vachanananda Swami said.

The walk, which began at Kudalasangama, crossed nearly 500 km as it entered Tumakuru district on Friday evening.

Seer criticises BSY

Basava Jayamruthyunjaya Swamy of Panchamasali Gurupeet, who is taking part in the walkathon, said that CM Yediyurappa should take a decision instead of passing on the responsibility to the Centre.

"He is the CM because of the support of the Panchamasali community, which is standing strongly behind the BJP and Yediyurappa. He cannot change his opinions constantly," he told the media.

The swami also urged the BJP high command to replace Yediyurappa as he had failed to stand by his word. Yediyurappa should either resign immediately or the BJP high command should replace him, he said.

Relief will come into effect immediately with a govt order: TN CM

@Chennai

IN a huge relief for cash-trapped farmers, Chief Minister Edappadi K Palaniswami on Friday announced that crop loans to the tune of ₹12,110 crore, availed by as many as 16.43 lakh farmers through cooperative banks, would be waived. After a year of the pandemic, the farmers were subsequently hit hard by two cyclones -- Nivar and Burevi -- and the non-seasonal rains in January.

Palaniswami, making the announcement under Rule 110 during the zero hour in the State Assembly, assured that the waiver would be enforced immediately by issuing a Government Order (GO) and the financial allocation for it would be made in the Interim Budget for 2021-22.

"This announcement has facilitated farmers in continuing cultivation works without any difficulty in the forthcoming year," the Chief Minister said. Recalling the DMK's promise, made during the 2019 Lok Sabha elections, that they would waive off farmer loans, Palaniswami said that they had forgotten that promise after winning seats.

"Even during the 2006 Assembly elections, the DMK promised to provide two acres of lands to landless farmers, but they could not fulfil that, he said. "This has been their routine in every election. However, the people know very well that the AIADMK always walks the talk, and fulfils election promises without fail," added Palaniswami.

Referring to the numerous schemes being implemented for agriculture and allied sectors, such as animal husbandry and fisheries, the Chief Minister said: "Whenever farmers have faced difficulties, the successive AIADMK governments have been at the forefront to alleviate their issues. After assuming office in May 2016, former Chief Minister J Jayalalithaa had waived crop loans to the tune of ₹5,318.73 crore to benefit 12.02 lakh farmers. Later, in 2017, the government had also disbursed ₹2,247 crore as drought relief to the farmers."

Citing the agricultural loss incurred due to the pandemic, the cyclones and the non-seasonal rains, Palaniswami said, "With a view to help them cope with this difficult situation, the State government had extended ₹1,717 crore as relief assistance (input subsidy) to 16.43 lakh farmers, and the amount has been credited to their accounts directly."

Cases against Jallikattu protesters to be withdrawn

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

THE ruling AIADMK has decided to take the bull by its horns ahead of the crucial Assembly elections. Chief Minister Edappadi K Palaniswami on Friday announced in the Assembly that his government would withdraw the cases filed during the Jallikattu agitations that took place in various parts of the State in 2017.

All cases, except those filed over "undesirable incidents" such as assault on policemen and arson, would be withdrawn after consultations with legal experts, Palaniswami said. "Those agitations were staged to establish the rights of Tamil people for Jallikattu," he told in the Assembly. "Many cases were filed in this regard, of which some were required to maintain law and order as some unwanted incidents happened during the agitation."

Considering the fact that many general public who staged agitation for restoring Jallikattu have also been affected due to the cases filed against them, the Chief Minister said, it has been decided to withdraw such cases. "The public staged the protest only to express their sentiments, while 'some' others engaged in propaganda," he said.

The pro-Jallikattu protests of 2017, claimed to be a leaderless youth-driven movement, attracted nationwide attention until violence and arson brought it to an end.

More trouble in store? Youth Cong election results divide party seniors

ANUSHA RAVI @Bengaluru

AFTER a prolonged delay, the results of the Karnataka Youth Congress election were declared on Thursday with The Foundation of Advanced Management of Elections (FAME)- an agency commissioned by AICC to oversee Indian Youth Congress (IYC) elections -announcing Raksha Ramaiah as the president. Mohammed Nalapad, who polled the highest valid votes was disqualified by the agency. The results have left one section of leaders in the state unit of Karnataka beaming while others are miffed. Both Raksha Ramaiah and Mohammed Nalapad have filed appeals with the IYC over the results- the former seeking a recount of votes while the latter has challenged his disqualification.

Despite the elections being a heavily-lobbied one with leaders throwing their weight behind candidates for their choice, all involved parties maintained that the elections were independent of any leader. The divide in the State unit leadership, however, became apparent when Legislature Party Chief Siddaramaiah took to his social media pages to congratulate Raksha Ramaiah — candidate he had endorsed — for his new post while KPCC President DK Shivakumar — who backed Nalapad in the elections — maintained a stoic silence.

"Nalapad was allowed to contest on the condition that he could be disqualified as the election body deems fit. It was not out of the blue," said a leader of the party while another questioned the logic behind allowing Nalapad to contest in the first place if the disqualification was imminent. "He polled the most number of votes. The cadre that voted for him is made to feel like fools," said the leader.

Meanwhile, the results have set off a series of reactions in the State Congress. Although Siddaramaiah and his faction seemed to have won the IYC polls with Raksha's victory, Nalapad's disqualification is being viewed by many as a conspiracy against D K Shivakumar resulting in animosity against the former Chief Minister, especially from the Muslim and Vokkaliga cadres of the party.

Raksha Ramaiah- son of former minister MR Seetharam- polled 57,271 valid votes and was declared as president of Karnataka Youth Congress by the election body while NSUI President H S Manjunath — who was staunchly backed by G Parameshwara through MLC BK Hariprasad and MP GC Chandrashekhar — with 18,137 valid polls was declared vice-president. Mohammed Nalapad—who polled the highest valid votes with 64,203— was disqualified by the election body that cited criminal cases and an earlier expulsion from the party as the reason. With a window for appeal still open, neither the Indian Youth Congress nor the AICC has issued the official notification of the poll results.

The volunteers will record details of the bird, the location of its sighting and the species name. They will also come out with a graph indicating the bird population.

The volunteers were also advised to take proper Covid precautions. ACF Paramesh said that volunteers have found 16 species in Chaluvarayana Katte in the Maddur range.

BJP leader hosts lunch for Kumaraswamy, expelled

MAHESH M GOUDAR @Bagalkot

THE BJP on Friday expelled a leader from Bagalkot for reportedly hosting lunch for JDS leader and former Chief Minister H D Kumaraswamy here recently.

BJP Nagara Mandala Bagalkot City president Basavaraj S A claimed that Santosh Hokrani, who was expelled, had expressed his wish to join the JDS during his luncheon with Kumaraswamy. In a press release, Basavaraj accused Hokrani of indulging in anti-party activities, and motivating a group of youngsters to post comments against Bagalkot MLA Veeranna Charantimath on social media, besides failing to participate in party activities. Hokrani was expelled from the BJP for six years. Basavaraj was not available for comment.

According to party sources, Hokrani had played a key role in ensuring Charantimath's victory in the last assembly polls. Ever since Hokrani had expressed his wish to contest the next assembly polls, the relationship between him and the MLA had soured, and he may have been expelled on Charantimath's instructions, sources said.

Denying the allegations, Hokrani told TNIE, "JDS district wing president Hanumanthappa Mavinamarad is my good friend. When he told me that Kumaraswamy wanted to visit my house after a party function recently, how could I refuse? Though Kumaraswamy offered me party membership, I declined as I am committed to the BJP for 18 years."

"I know who is behind this. Charantimath should work on building second-rung leaders, he should have offered the Bagalkot Town Development Authority chairmanship to loyal party workers," Hokrani said.

"The Nagara Mandal president took the decision on my instructions," BJP district president Shantagouda Patil said.

Will win all four seats, says BSY

CHALLENGING Siddaramiah to win the upcoming by-elections in the state, the CM said that the BJP will not only win the four polls but also crush its rivals with a thumping majority. "In the 2019 Lok Sabha elections, the BJP won 25 seats out of 27 in Karnataka. The same year, of the 15 Assembly seats that went to bypolls, we won 12. The party also came out victorious in the Sira Assembly seat last year which had never been won by us," he added.

This year, the bypolls will be held to Maski, Basavakalyana and Sindagi Assembly seats and the Belagavi Lok Sabha constituency. "We are going to win all the four. Under your (Siddaramaiah) leadership, the Congress has fared badly in polls as people have lost faith in your party," he said.

The BJP is also confident of winning 150 seats the next Assembly election, while the Congress will continue to sit in the opposition, he added.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

UPSET over constantly being harassed by her husband, a 38-year-old woman ended her life by hanging in her house in Varthur recently. The husband was arrested on Thursday. A senior police officer said that the couple—Bhaskar and Padmavathi—were married 10 years ago and have a son.

Bhaskar (42), a software engineer in a private company, was an alcoholic and he would often take Padmavathi to pubs. At the pubs, he would allegedly force her to dance with other men. After returning home, he would physically torture her. Fed up with his behaviour, she tried to end her life thrice in the past by consuming poison. On Monday, she hanged herself in the bedroom.

Her parents filed a complaint of abetment of suicide against him. Bhaskar has been handed over him to judicial custody.

In the complaint, Padmavathi's mother alleged that Bhaskar would hit Padmavathi almost every day for the past few months over trivial issues. He was counselled a few times and told to mend his ways. The complaint also stated that Padmavathi had found out that her husband was having an extra-marital affair.

COMMUNAL DISCOURSE IN RUN-UP TO KERALA ELECTIONS

The election season is here and political parties in Kerala have expectedly turned up the volume on their toxic talk. The political discourse in the state, as it moves closer to the Assembly elections, is taking an unmistakably communal tone. That's a worrying trend in a state that took pride in its secular politics. No party is an exception here, and everyone is a willing participant. In their scramble to win votes and grab power, the parties have turned the air unnecessarily caustic, the effects of which will linger long after the election dust is settled.

Surprisingly, it was the ruling CPM that set the tone for the new political narrative by seeking to paint the opposition UDF in communal colours, pointing out the latter's truck with the Jamaat-e-Islami-backed Welfare Party in the recent local body election. The new CPM boss in Kerala, A Vijayaraghavan, then sought to repeatedly underscore the religious base of the Muslim League, a key UDF partner. The intention was clear. It wanted to woo back the Hindu voters alienated by the Left Front government's Sabarimala fiasco and make further inroads into the sizeable Christian vote bank. The UDF hit back in force, accusing the CPM of playing the communal card in desperation, but it itself had no qualms about attempting to revive the sensitive Sabarimala issue. Add to that Congress leader K Sudhakaran's caste slur against Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan, and the UDF is certainly doing its bit to further the acrimony. The BJP, on its part, is actively wooing the Christian communities, putting into action its game plan of pitting one minority community against the other.

It is one thing to consider religious equations and come up with strategies to woo communities at the time of elections, but quite another to pursue an openly communal line in an attempt to polarise voters and reap the ill-gotten benefits. These methods will render the idea of a free and fair election irrelevant. Whatever be the motive, parties must desist from strategies that violate the sanctity of the impending democratic exercise. A course correction is imperative to restore sanity in Kerala's political discourse.

DEALING WITH ONLINE GAMBLING

Tamil Nadu has introduced a Bill in the Assembly to ban online gaming with stakes. The Bill, which will replace an Ordinance passed last year, has been welcomed by many sections of society. Several suicides reported in TN last year during the lockdown were attributed to financial losses that players suffered after losing money in these games. Two more were reported this month, much after the Ordinance came into effect. The Bill warns players with a two-year jail time and/or a fine up to ₹10,000. Though it also warns companies running these games against playing with stakes, it does not clearly specify the punishment in case of violations. With gambling being recognised as an addiction, the decision to penalise the user instead of focusing on the enabler is problematic. In such scenarios, often only the players face action. The organisers manage to evade the law using money and influence.

India's experience with every other banned substance has an important lesson—legislations must crack down on cartels running these businesses, rather than focusing on end-users. While the Ordinance did ban the gambling apps, analysis by this newspaper found that many of them continue to be actively available to users. While big brands have restricted access for players in TN, smaller ones continue to violate the law. As a result, the major brands have moved court against the government's decision to ban them, stating it's unfair. They claim they have been adhering to professional guidelines and it was the smaller firms that were exploiting people.

The Indian legal system has drawn a fine line between gambling and "skill-based" gaming as early as in the 1960s. Rummy and such card games fall under the former category. The online skill-gaming is a whopping ₹5,000 crore industry in India, says KPMG. It is poised for rapid growth in a nation with an ever-expanding internet penetration. Recently, the industry collectively made a representation to the Central think tank NITI Aayog to set up a single self-regulatory body to standardise the regulations governing the entire sector. If that proposal is accepted, it remains to be seen what will happen to the TN legislation.

Low-hanging fruits have always proved to be too tempting for the Congress to remember its long-term vision for the future of India

THE CONGRESS PARTY'S POLITICS OF POPULISM

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE

President, ICCR, and BJP Rajya Sabha MP

AMIT BANDRE

The debate around the farm laws and the agitation to scrap them serves a copybook case for those studying politics of populism. History repeats itself, but it shouldn't be allowed to in such a grotesque manner. Right since Independence, the Congress party has always chosen safe ways over hard and politically courageous decisions. As the ruling party, it played to the gallery to avoid political reverses. As the opposition, it has always fished in troubled waters, riding piggyback on popular sentiments. For India's GOP, low-hanging fruits have always proved to be too tempting to remember its long-term vision for the future of India!

The Congress party's populist politics has proved to be extremely costly to the nation. The three important issues that are routinely referred to as core issues of the BJP are a testimony to this. Regardless of the expressed constitutional mandate, successive Congress governments refrained from nullifying Article 370, enacting a common civil code and preventing the silent invasion of Bangladeshi infiltrators into Assam. While the Congress used all these three issues as a protective shield around its vote bank, they were in fact laying red carpets to multiple threats to the very unity and integrity of India.

An important factor common to these three issues was Muslims in India. Sadly, Congress leaders have viewed Muslims only from the perspective of losses and gains in elections. For them, Jammu and Kashmir was more of a Muslim-majority province and hence a showcase item to be cited as a living example of India's commitment to secularism. The party was always hell-bent on exhibiting secularism than being truly secular. At the cost of J&K's progress on the human development front, the Congress allowed secessionist elements to thrive under Article 370. It turned a Nelson's eye to many things, from repeated terrorist attacks to injustice in Ladakh and from mindless corruption to denial of constitutional safeguards to women and marginalised communities there. The Shah Bano case was the pinnacle of its politics of populism through minority appeasement. Rajiv Gandhi's decision to amend the Constitution in order to undo the impact of the Supreme Court judgment further emboldened obscurantist elements in the Muslim community. In effect, justice to Muslim women facing acute vulnerability due to the retrograde practice of triple talaq continued to remain a chimera. To secure its own vote bank, the Congress committed the sin of making the lives of Muslim women even more insecure. Similarly, the IMDT act enacted during former PM Indira Gandhi's second tenure gave the illegal migration of Bangladeshis more fillip instead of preventing it. Again, the example of Terrorists and Disruptive Activities (Prevention) Act, introduced by Rajiv Gandhi, is equally educative. Later, the TADA was used and abused but it continued as a law. During the investigations into the 1993 Mumbai blasts, this Act proved to be very effective. However, in the face of a campaign by certain sections in society, TADA came to be portrayed as an anti-minority law and hence the Narasimha Rao regime meekly gave in to the pressures and repealed the act. Later, when the Vajpayee government decided to bring the Prevention of Terrorism Act (POTA) in 2002, the NDA government was compelled to call a joint session—something that happened only very few times in India's parliamentary history—of both the Houses to get the law passed.

For instance, Congress leaders have sadly viewed Muslims only from the perspective of elections. The Shah Bano case was the pinnacle of its politics of populism through minority appeasement. To secure its own vote bank, the Congress committed the sin of making the lives of Muslim women insecure

All these examples show how the Congress lacked courage of conviction in abiding by the guiding principles of the Constitution. Now, while actively supporting forces of manufactured unrest on the farm bills, the GOP and other opposition parties are doing a great disservice to parliamentary democracy. How can a group of a few hundred stubborn agitators pressurise the government to undo what Parliament has passed? If we allow this to happen, it would amount to stifling the voices emanating from the very temple of democracy! The government has been engaging with the agitators patiently and peacefully. It is time that the Congress and opposition parties shun populism and instead prepare the agitators so that wiser counsel prevails.

While doing so, they may do well in recalling what Edmund Burke had said almost 250 years ago: "Your representative owes you, not his industry only, but his judgement; and he betrays you instead of serving you if he sacrifices it to your opinion." BIDEN'S ROAD TO THE AYATOLLAHS OF IRAN

P R KUMARASWAMY

Professor at JNU. Teaches contemporary Middle East there

The nomination of Robert Malley, a veteran hand in Washington policy circles, as the Special Envoy for Iran, signals the new Biden administration's priority in the Middle East. Re-engagement with Iran will overshadow other pressing regional issues such as the Arab-Israeli conflict, civil wars in Libya and Syria or domestic unrests in Iraq and Lebanon. For the Biden administration, revisiting and revising the Trump administration policy of 'maximum pressure' is a low-hanging fruit that could also assist its re-engagement with its European allies.

Flagged as a 'specialist on conflict resolution', Malley is no stranger to the Middle East. While much of the focus has been on the Obama years when he was part of the US team that negotiated the Iran nuclear deal, Malley was also a principal figure during the ill-fated Camp David talks between Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Barak and Palestinian Chairman Yasser Arafat in the summer of 2000. When most observers joined Barak in blaming Arafat for the summit meeting's failure, Malley, then a special assistant to President Clinton, candidly wrote about Arafat's position, constraints and compromises. As a result, there are already concerns among the Republicans and the Israeli leadership over Malley's new assignment in the light of his perceived pro-Iran and pro-Palestinian bias.

Malley's nomination signals that Iran continues to be the priority area for the Biden administration but with a positive twist. Since the election campaign, Biden has vowed to return to the nuclear deal from which the Trump Administration pulled out in May 2018, but it is easier said than done. For its part, Iran has increased its enrichment capabilities and, in the process, violated some of the terms and conditions of the nuclear deal signed in 2014. During the same period, Iran's Arab neighbours, mainly Saudi Arabia and UAE, have come closer to Israel, the key critic of the nuclear deal.

It is essential to recognise the context of the Iran nuclear deal. The US was keen to pull out its troops from the Iraqi quagmire and had no stomach for another military confrontation with Iran over the nuclear controversy. Hence, the Obama administration ignored American allies' concerns over the perceived Iranian hegemony and its development of long-range missiles that could easily strike Israel and Saudi Arabia. Washington also ignored regional concerns over Iranian involvement in various crises such as Lebanon, Iraq, Palestine, Syria and Yemen and worked for the nuclear deal. Hence, when President Trump tore up the deal, Iran felt betrayed, Europeans were stunned, but many in the Middle East were jubilant over the return of American sensitivity and respect towards its allies. When it comes to Iran, the Biden administration cannot be Obama 2.0 and merely return to the status quo ante of 2018.

The Biden administration's policy would demand a formal engagement with Iran but with a greater sensitivity towards Iran's regional adversaries. If the Obama administration was naive and insensitive towards the allies, the Trump administration demonised Iran, and President Biden will have to balance the two extremes.

Robert Malley's nomination as US Special Envoy for Iran shows that the nation will be a priority area for Biden. ... If the Obama administration was naive and insensitive towards the allies, the Trump administration demonised Iran. President Biden will have to balance the two extremes

In practical terms, this would bring two changes. Re-engagement with Iran would have to be accompanied by a lower verbal duel between Washington and Tehran and some relaxation of secondary sanctions such as humanitarian and medical relief. The removal of the Trump administration's sanctions against Iranian oil exports is the key; President Biden might easily get into domestic trouble with the Republicans, whose support is critical for his agenda for an inclusive America. Hence, Malley would have to show tangible signs of Iranian compliance and accommodation before suggesting any sanction relaxation. With Iranian presidential elections due in June, the US would continue to be a hotly contested domestic issue and preclude any major concessions from Iran.

Malley's appointment also signals the diminishing importance of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict under the Biden administration. Though some progress is likely, such as reopening the Palestinian mission in Washington and financial assistance, the new administration is unlikely to push for a breakthrough. It has already indicated that it would not reverse or overturn some of the Trump administration's controversial decisions, such as Jerusalem as Israel's capital and the shifting of the American embassy from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem. The spate of normalisation between Israel and Arab countries in the dying days of the Trump administration also lowered the regional appetite for prioritising the Palestinian track. Moreover, the success of President Biden's Iran policy rests on courting, convincing and enlisting the support of Iran's Arab neighbours who have prioritised perceived Persian threats over Palestinian statelessness.

If Iran is the priority of the Biden administration, what are the options for India? New Delhi was taken by surprise by not foreseeing the Trump administration's sanctions on oil imports from Iran. While it managed to find supply alternatives, India exposed its vulnerability to US pressures by completely stopping Iranian oil. Moreover, through its inept and lackadaisical approach, New Delhi failed to capitalise on the opportunity provided to the Chabahar port, exempted from the Trump administration's sanctions on Iran. Hopefully, South Block would be more attentive this time towards the winds of changes in Washington.

India won't be cowed down

This is with reference to Nuancing our response as support to farmers' agitation goes global (Feb 5). Gone are the days when our foreign policy and even some internal decisions were influenced by world powers. India need not be cowed down by global leaders or celebrities, however powerful they may be. We must go ahead only with India's needs in mind.
Dharmarajan A K, Thalassery

Don't rush legislations

The farm agitation continues to boil in the cauldron of national priorities. The government, though it has said that it is open to talks, does not seem keen on doing too much to resolve the issue. The biggest challenge for the Centre in future would be to not rush legislations through Parliament, however sound they may be.
TP Kurian, Kandanad

Barricades make sense

It is not right to criticise the Centre for barricading the protest site and suspending the internet temporarily in some areas, given the incident on Republic Day. Considering the agitation is getting stronger by the day and the protestors seem to be showing no interest in dialogue with the Centre, this decision makes sense.

Rihanna and Kangana

It is okay if some people found Barbadian pop star Rihanna to be their voice, but why should Indian actress Kangana Ranaut be ridiculed for speaking with courage of conviction? In addition, many who cry hoarse for the freedom of speech often take a duplicitous stand when a narrative unpalatable to them comes on stage.

Leading us to great heights

This is with reference to The strength and depth of India's cricket system (Feb 5). The article highlights how our cricket team has been strengthened over time with better infrastructure, coaches and training facilities. The authorities have also expanded the base of new cricketers manifold. This will surely lead us to great heights.

Cricket at grassroots level

India's incredible performances in world cricket despite the non-availability of first-choice resources in Australia showcase the wonderful system put together by the BCCI for the sport at grassroots level in the country. This is despite a volatile administration running the show.

Decisive win for BJP?

This is with reference to How BJP turned West Bengal's Left support base in their favour (Feb 5). The three-part analysis clearly captures the ground realities in West Bengal. It forebodes a decisive win for the BJP, owing to the unendingly antagonising reactions by CM Mamata Banerjee without focusing on the development of the state.

Nepotism in the LDF

The LDF government in Kerala continues the practice of nepotism. The appointment of the wife of a former MP as assistant professor in Sree Sankara Sanskrit University, overlooking the claims of the better-qualified, is the latest incident. The LDF does not seem to have any qualms about what it is doing.

Misuse of the EPF scheme

The Department of Revenue's disclosure that over 1.23 lakh high net-worth individuals deposited more than ` 62,500 crore into their EPF accounts in 2018-19 alone is mind-boggling. Such people are obviously tapping the EPF scheme for tax-free income. The move to tax the income on EPF contributions of over ` 2.5 lakh a year could spell an end to the goose that lays golden eggs.

Keep repo rate low

The RBI has taken the right decision by keeping the repo rate unchanged at 4%. Keeping it as low as possible will definitely help in increasing liquidity in the market. Pumping more funds into the system should be our utmost priority to counter the economic impact of Covid.

WHAT CAN TORPEDO THE BUDGET AND ECONOMY?

If India grows, it will contribute to global recovery. If not, huge investment it is making for growth will go down the drain and that will disappoint the world

THE Covid-hit world GDP shrank by 3.5% in 2020. Shoppers have fallen by 20% in the US and 97% in Germany compared to pre-Covid levels. Many analysts believe that global travel and tourism won't return to the pre-pandemic normal until 2025. The Western world is still grimly fighting the Covid menace.

World looks to India

Against this background, the IMF projects that the growth of India (11.5%), China (8.2%) and the US (5.1%) would lead the global recovery. India's Economic Survey projects the Nominal GDP growth at 14+% and the Real at 11%. India, which seems to have overcome the Covid-19 challenge, invented its own vaccine and is poised to make billions of vaccines for the world. And the world is keen to include India in the global supply chain hitherto dominated by China. The world's expectation is a new geo-political status for India. If India grows, it will recover and contribute to the world's recovery and win acclaim. If it dithers, not only the huge investment it is making for growth will go down the drain, it will also disappoint the world. Stakes are huge.

Fundamental differentials

The risks to India's well-conceived growth in the Budget lie not in, but outside, the Budget. It is obvious to the eyes of those who look deep into the fundamental differentials that set India apart. As the saying goes, what is obvious is the most difficult to detect. Deep fundamental differences distinguish the Indian economy from the Anglo-Saxon West it tends to copy. While India is dominantly family-oriented, the West is predominantly individualist. This differential affects not only spending, savings and investment, but also the State-Individual financial relations and a host of economic issues. The default savings mode in Anglo-Saxon economies is equity. But that is the last option in India. Indian families prefer safe, not risky, investments because traditional families have to take care of elders, infirm and unemployed through their own savings. That burden is outsourced to governments in the Anglo-Saxon world by universal social security and pension schemes. This enables the individual freed from such obligations to go for risky savings and lavish spending. The traditional Indian families therefore save a lot. Theirs is about one-fifth of the national savings. And most of it is in safe mode. The latest RBI data says that bank deposits constitute 51.5% of the financial savings, PF and pension funds 26.2%, and insurance 17.14%, making the safe investment 94.8% -- leaving just 5.2% in risky equity. A study says just 18 million Indians invest in equities. In contrast, 55% of American adults invest in equity. Why? The universal social security in the US frees families from the need for safe savings, and allows them to spend lavishly. The Indian government will go bankrupt if it thinks of universal social security. The celebrated high Sensex and Nifty are driven by global liquidity, not domestic risk savings. If the Indian savings go mostly into banks, Indian business finance cannot but be bank-driven. All attempts from the 1990s to turn the Indians away from banks to Dalal Street have failed. Indian economy will continue to be bank driven till Indians give up their traditional family culture. Being a bank-based economy is no shame. It is no sign of financial backwardness as the US used to mock Japan before 2008. Like Indians, Japanese, too, invest less than 10% of their savings in equity. Also, only one in seven Germans invest in equity. And yet Japan and Germany are efficient. Now it is necessary to recall how not factoring the Indian differential into the prudential norms for providing bank credit to business did the Indian economy in from 2016, as a similar situation is emerging in 2021-22.

An instructive recall

Raghuram Rajan was Chief Economic Adviser to the UPA II from August 2012 to September 2013, and from September 2013 to September 2016 he was the RBI governor. As governor, Rajan cornered glory for detonating the Non Performing Assets (NPA) bomb on the Modi 1.0 regime, even though Rajan himself had said that reckless lending by banks in 2006-08 was the origin of bad loans and blamed the UPA decade for the bad loan mess [theprint.in 11.9.2018]. Rajan could not deny knowing that the NPA had been kept neutralised by loan restructuring schemes and he had accepted that model from 2012 to 2016. The 2012-13 Economic Survey Rajan had authored as Advisor to the UPA II said that "some sectors are experiencing" NPAs because of slowdown and high levels of leverage, adding that some of the reasons for the increase in NPAs are technical, but stress also stems from slow growth and project delays. A revival of growth will help contain NPAs." Rajan first talked about NPA only a year after he became governor, on September 15, 2014 at the FICCI/IBA Banking Conference where he just said, "NPAs have increased." The Rajan-led RBI report released in September 2014 said the 'NPAs had risen because of cyclical downturn but their growth had moderated,' cautioning not to be overly confident "the worst is over". Further, the Rajan-headed RBI report in August 2015 spoke of the NPAs rising steadily from 2.2% in 2010 to 4.7% in 2015.' That was all.

Despite being in the know of the NPAs before 2008, either as Advisor to the UPA in 2012, and as the RBI governor in 2013 till mid-2016, Rajan never foresaw or forced an NPA crisis. And even as the NPA was rising, the economy too was doing extremely well with the GDP rising from 6% in 2013-14 to 8% in 2014-15 and to 8.2% in 2015-16. Suddenly, in mid-2016 Rajan wielded his sledgehammer and mandated that all NPAs must be identified on arithmetic formulae and provided for, even if the debtor was viable, driving the entire banking system and the economy into despair.

NPA sledgehammer in 2016, GDP crash

Under the force of the Rajan mandate, the NPA of 5% in 2014-15 shot up to 9.3% in 2015-16, 11.7% in 2016-17 and 14.6% in 2017-18. The consequences were enormous and predictable. Forced provisions eroded banks' capital, landing them in crisis. The government had to shell out ₹3.2 lakh crore to recapitalise the banks.

This affected the government's fiscal side. In the melee and time gap between provisioning and recap, the banks' credit to business declined and the economy crashed. The credit to industry declined; as of November 2020 it stood almost where it was five years ago. The credit to Micro and Small Enterprises, too, declined and stood in November 2020 at less than where it was five years ago. And the GDP growth that had taken off from 6% in 2013-14 to a high of 8.2% in 2015-16 and stood at 7.2% in 2016-17, crashed to 5% in 2019-20. Compare this with what happened from 2014-15 to 2016-17. The hidden NPA from 2006-08 did exist in 2016, but that did not affect growth, as it did not stop credit delivery. Even when the debt is secured by collaterals and recoverable and the debtor is viable, Rajan mandated provisioning and that strangled credit delivery and consequently cost the growth from 2016.

The torpedo — replay of 2016-18 in 2021-23

The RBI now forecasts a base level NPA of 13.5% to a worse case level of 14.8% by September 2021. This recalls the peak NPA of 14.6% in 2017-18. The question is: will the Rajan whip of 2016 be back to force provide for NPAs. If it does, the government will find it difficult to realise the dream growth projected by the Budget 2021. It may even have a crisis on its hand with banks forced to make arithmetic-based provision landing in losses and the government having to recap the banks. A replay of the 2016 whip can torpedo and sink the Budget and the economy.

When Rajan cracked the whip in 2016, the banks had no surplus funds, till the fortuitous demonetisation put funds in their hands. Now, in January 2021, the banks, unable to find borrowers to lend, have a surplus of 6.72 lakh crore, which they have parked with the RBI at 3.35%. Everyone pretends, like the emperor in clothes, that there is just credit aversion and so no borrowers. But the reality is that the viable borrowers — all of whom are unlisted companies and MSMEs — hit by downturn have been declared as defaulters and disqualified to borrow. Banks can generate funds overnight but cannot create borrowers instantly. Borrowers are the asset base of the banks. With the borrowers shut out, banks can't and therefore don't lend. How long can banks keep the monies with RBI at such low interest as 3.35%? Banks thrive on lending and earning margin on interest paid. If they do not lend they do not earn at all. If the banks got into difficulties by recklessly lending in the UPA period, they will now get into trouble by not lending. Besides, there is a paradox of liquidity infusion and liquidity absorption happening at the same time. The RBI is infusing liquidity into the banking system as Covid-19 stimulus on the one hand, and on the other, the banks are depositing surplus cash with the RBI!

> The Reserve Bank of India now forecasts a base level NPA of 13.5% to a worse case level of 14.8% by September 2021. This recalls the peak NPA of 14.6% in 2017-18. The question is: will the Rajan whip of 2016 be back to force provide for NPAs.

Learn from the Japanese experience

Here is Japanese experience that can help India. In the late 1990s, Japanese banks made crash provision for NPAs. Consequent recap of banks cost the Japanese government a trillion dollars. The Japanese also brought the same bankruptcy law we adopted. In a paper titled "Japan's disposal of bad loans: failure or success. A review of Japan's experience with bad debt disposals and its implications for global financial crisis," Richard Coo and Masaya Sasaki of Nomura Research Institute [March 2010] reviewed the Japanese experience and concluded that there is no need to rush to bad debt disposal and it is possible to deal with the problem at minimum cost to the taxpayers by "putting the time on our side", adding the government must encourage banks to dispose of their bad loans gradually in a credible fashion. Unlike our banks whose funds were frozen in sticky loans in functioning businesses, Japanese banks lost money in asset bubbles that would take longer to recover. The lesson from Japan is self-evident: Give time to banks to deal with NPAs, and avoid crash provisioning by blind application of the rules of arithmetic.

Covid vaccination for above-50 from March

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE third priority group for Covid-19, people above 50, will start getting jabs in March, Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan informed the Lok Sabha on Friday.

The vaccination of frontline workers — after the inoculations for healthcare workers began on January 16 — have already started this week. Vardhan said that since the drive for the second phase to cover over two crore frontline workers is in progress, it is difficult to announce any fixed date at present. It is expected that the third phase of the Covid vaccination drive will start in the second, third or fourth week of March.

The announcement comes on a day the number of vaccinations crossed the 50 lakh mark across the country.

Replying to a question during the question hour session of Lok Sabha, the minister made the announcement "the third phase drive will cover the most vulnerable people over the age of 50."

Vardhan said the first phase of the world's biggest vaccination drive, which was rolled out in January by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, had aimed to inoculate around one crore healthcare workers and the second phase targeted two crore frontline workers.

As of now two vaccines, one each by the Serum Institute of India and Bharat Biotech, are being used for the country's Covid-19 immunisation drive.

The minister, however, added that seven more vaccines are under process and 22 countries including the United Arab Emirates, Bangladesh, Bhutan and Afghanistan have so far requested India to supply Covid-19 vaccines. Fifteen of them have been provided 161 lakh doses.

Corona dip in utilisation of PM's health scheme

Fall in other treatments leaves more than half the money unused

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @New Delhi

LESS than half the money allocated for the Centre's flagship health scheme Pradhan Mantri Jan Arogya Yojana has been utilised in 2020-21, as health services across the country suffered due to pandemic and lockdown, government data shows.

As per the expenditure profile document of the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, ₹6,400 crore was allocated for the scheme before being revised to only ₹3,100 crore as hospitalisation rates drastically fell March onwards. For the coming fiscal too, the government has estimated ₹6,400 crore for the programme.

Launched in September 2018, PMJAY provides for free secondary and tertiary hospitalisation of up to ₹5 lakh for nearly 10 crore families across the country and covers 1573 procedures including 23 specialties.

Officials in the National Health Agency said the massive fall in expenditure under it had been on account of the change in health seeking behaviour of listed beneficiaries during the pandemic period.

"In several states, most of the functional hospitals had converted into Covid hospitals because of which services for other ailments took a beating," said an official in the finance section of the NHA.

She added that delay in release of funds by several states have also been a major concern.

FALLING SHORT OF TARGET

32 states and UTs implement the scheme

13.48 crore e-cards have been issued

Treatments worth ₹7,490 crore for 1.55 crore hospital admissions have been provided

A total of 24,215 hospitals empanelled

"We release central share only after the state contributes its share and that equation got disrupted due to the pandemic."

The latest economic survey tabled in the Parliament said that general care-seeking as seen in the PMJAY claims exhibited a V-shaped recovery after falling during the lockdown but has reached the pre-Covid levels in December 2020.

A report titled "PM-JAY Under Lockdown: Evidence on Utilization Trends PM-JAY" by the NHA released in June had said that women, children and the elderly were hit worse than men. While cancer treatment fell by nearly 64 per cent, child birth- both normal deliveries and Caesarean Sections — fell by 26 %, the report revealed.

Also, there was wide variation in claim volume trends across states, with the steepest declines (over 75 per cent) in Assam, Maharashtra and Bihar, while much smaller declines (about 25 per cent or less) were observed in Uttarakhand, Punjab and Kerala.

Under the scheme, general medicine has been the overwhelmingly major clinical specialty used since 2018, with its share continuously growing.

Civil service aspirants to get one more chance

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

TAKING a U-turn, the Centre on Friday agreed to provide an extra attempt to the UPSC civil services examination candidates who had failed to appear in the October exams due to the Covid pandemic.

A bench headed by Justice AM Khanwilkar had taken note of the submissions of Additional Solicitor General SV Raju, appearing on behalf of the DoPT. The court will hear the matter in details on Monday. It was hearing a plea by candidates who had appeared for their last attempt in the civil services (preliminary) examination, 2020 held on October 4.

The Centre has clarified that relaxation, only to the extent of providing one extra attempt for Civil Service Examination (CSE), specifically limited to CSE 2021, may be granted to only those candidates who appeared for CSE-2020 as their last permissible attempt and are otherwise not age-barred from appearing in CSE 2021.

Further, no relaxation shall be granted for CSE 2021 to those candidates who have not exhausted their permissible number of attempts or to those candidates who are otherwise age-barred from appearing in CSE 2021 as per the prescribed age limits of different categories, or to any other candidate for other reason whatsoever.

"This relaxation for the candidates and to the extent as prescribed above, shall be a one-time relaxation only and shall apply only for appearing in CSE 2021 and shall not be treated as a precedent," the Centre told the bench.

The top court on September 30 last year had refused to postpone the UPSC civil services preliminary exam because of the pandemic and floods in several parts of the country. However, it had directed the government and the UPSC to consider granting an extra chance to candidates who had their last attempt in 2020, with corresponding extension of the upper age-limit.

Applications sought for lateral entry-II

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE UPSC has invited 30 applications for lateral entry into government services for four posts at joint secretary level and 13 posts at director-level. The commission has said that the move has been initiated as per the requisitions received from the Department of Personnel & Training (DoP&T).

"Talented and motivated Indian nationals willing to contribute towards nation building are being invited to join the government at the level of Joint Secretary and at Director levels on contract basis," said the UPSC on Friday.

Earlier, in 2019, the government had appointed eight proffessionals as joint secretaries for a 5-year contract. The government is of the view that induction of specialists into the system will bring competition and improve work efficiency.

Khoon ki kheti, Tomar takes a jibe at Congress

Agriculture minister says protesters unable to point out flaws in the three farm laws

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AS the opposition in Rajya Sabha called for withdrawal of farm laws, Union Agriculture Minister NS Tomar on Friday said that the government's willingness to make amendments in the three legislations doesn't mean there are flaws in them. He also took a dig at the Congress, accusing them of indulging in politics of 'blood' — the remark which was expunged later.

Inside the House, speaking during Motion of Thanks on the President's address, Tomar said that farmers from one particular state are misinformed about the laws and the agitation is being led by unions from Punjab. "Government's offer to make amendments in the laws does not mean there are any shortcomings in them. Farmer unions and opposition parties have failed to point out a single flaw in three new farm laws," he said in the Upper House.

Tomar said Congress was trying to politicise the issue. "Duniya janti hai pani se kheti hoti hai. Khoon se kheti sirf Congress he kar sakte hai, BJP khoon se kheti nahi kar sakti (the world knows water is required for farming. Only Congress can do farming using blood. BJP cannot do this)," the minister said.

> We are not standing on prestige. We have been asking what is kaala in this law and no one is forthcoming. We have been talking with unions for a long time
> Narendra Tomar, Agriculture minister

Many opposition parties have appealed to the Centre to withdraw the three laws and not make it a prestige issue. They have also termed the laws as 'kala kanoon'.

"We are not standing on prestige. We have been asking what is kaala in this law and no one is forthcoming. We have been talking with farmer unions for a long time," Tomar said. "They have our proposal and they are discussing it among themselves. We are expecting a reply from them soon, after which we will look into it and sit with them to find a solution."

On the opposition and farmer unions allegations that the Centre did not consult anybody before bringing in the laws, he said that the Centre followed due procedure and consulted the states and farmers.

UN rights body calls for max restraint

NEW DELHI: The Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights on Friday called on both the Indian government and the demonstrators to exercise maximum restraint. "We call on the authorities and protesters to exercise maximum restraint in ongoing #FarmersProtests. The rights to peaceful assembly & expression should be protected both offline & online," it tweeted. "It's crucial to find equitable solutions with due respect to #HumanRights for all."

Centre may agree to oppn demand for separate discussion on agriculture laws

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Lok Sabha witnessed logjam even on Friday with the Opposition parties persisting with their demand of repealing the farm laws, leading to repeated adjournments.

Faced with the prospect of being unable to fulfil the convention of holding discussion on the President's address to the joint sitting of the two Houses of the Parliament, the government is likely to buy peace and agree to a separate discussion on the farmers' protests with the Opposition.

With only five days left for the conclusion of the first half of Budget session, during which it is a matter of prestige for the government to complete the discussion and pass the motion of thanks to the President's address, the government has little choice. Sources indicated that one day next week will be marked for a separate discussion on farm laws.

The government has been insisting that the Opposition speak on the protests in the motion of thanks. The Opposition has been unyielding on their demand for a separate discussion on the subject. Rajya Sabha, on the other hand, has completed the discussion on the motion of thanks.

On Friday, Parliamentary Affairs Minister Arjun Meghwal read out the agenda for the business of the House for the next week, which included motion of thanks, Budget discussion, and a number of legislative proposals, including the Delhi Special Laws (Amendment) Bill.

Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla is learnt to have continued to speak to the floor leaders of the political parties to find a breakthrough. He will be meeting the leaders of the parties again on Monday before the House convenes for the day.

Celebrities reiterate their support despite Centre censure

NEW DELHI: Global personalities, US Vice-President Kamala Harris niece Meena Harris, refused to bow down to pressure and online trolls and reiterated their support to the farmers' agitation in India.

"I won't be intimidated, and I won't be silenced," Meena tweeted. After a photojournalist shared a photo of people from the United Hindu Front holding photographs of Harris before burning it at a demonstration in Delhi, Harris shared the tweet and wrote, "I spoke out in support of human rights for Indian farmers, and look at the response."

Former adult star Mia Khalifa, who had tweeted about the protests earlier, also came out with a new message. "Confirming I have in fact regained consciousness, and would like to thank you for your concern, albeit unnecessary. Still standing with the farmers, though." This comes after there were pictures of demonstrators holding placards 'Mia Khalifa regains consciousness' at the same demonstration in Delhi.

The international chorus grew after pop star Rihanna tweeted an article on internet suspension at the protest sites.

The Ministry of External Affairs had said, in its statement, that "vested interest groups have also tried to mobilise international support against the reformist (agriculture) legislation," which was passed by "parliament of India after a full debate and discussion." ENS

Bengal election: BJP Parivartan Yatra in Nadia, Nadda to flag off

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

BJP national president JP Nadda will flag off Parivartan Yatra from Nabadwip in Nadia district on Saturday.

The district administration gave permission to hold the rally where Nadda is scheduled to address but the nod for the yatra is yet to come as a PIL challenging the event is pending in the Kolkata High Court. Sources, in the state administration said though the go ahead signal was not given for the yatra, but their application seeking permission has not been denied yet.

The Bengal BJP unit has planned to take out the event from the party's five organisational zones. Union Home Minister Amit Shah is scheduled to be present in one of the events which will start from Cooch Behar on February 11.

"We have given permission for the rally at Nabadwip. But we have not given a go ahead for the Parivartan Yatra as a PIL is pending in the high court," said a senior police officer.

Earlier, the state BJP sought permission from Bengal home secretary HK Dwivedi to carry out the event. In a reply, the state secretariat said the party would have to apply for permission from the district authorities from where the event would start. In a recent meeting with the BJP's Bengal functionaries in New Delhi, Shah instructed the party workers to carry out the Yatra even if the state government denies permission.

Meanwhile, a BJP team led by Rajya Sabha MP Swapan Dasgupta reached the Election Commission and urged additional polling booths be set up for the upcoming Assembly election. Apart from central armed police forces, the BJP also sought appointments of special observers in the poll-bound state.

High-speed internet back in J&K after 550 days

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

In a huge relief to the people of the Union Territory, the Lt Governor administration in J&K on Friday lifted the ban on high-speed internet and announced the restoration of 4G mobile internet after nearly 550 days. These services were suspended in erstwhile state hours before scrapping of Article 370 on August 5, 2019.

J&K government spokesman and Principal Secretary (Power & Information), Rohit Kansal announced the decision to restore high-speed mobile internet. "4G mobile internet services being restored in the entire J&K," tweeted Kansal.

After Kansal's tweet, J&K Home Secretary Shaleen Kabra issued an order lifting restrictions on mobile and fixed landline internet. Restrictions on mobile internet speed were lifted after taking inputs from security forces and police, read the order.

The Home Department has directed mobile internet service providers to provide access to the subscribers. The decision brought smiles back on the faces of people. "4G Mubarak! For the first time since Aug 2019 all of J&K will have 4G mobile data. Better late than never (sic)," tweeted former J&K Chief Minister and National Conference vice-president Omar Abdullah.

Former IAS officer-turned-politician Shah Faesal, who quit politics after release from detention last year, said restoration of 4G internet is a positive development. People from all walks of life including students, doctors, professionals, government employees, journalists and businessmen have welcomed restoration of high-speed internet.

Deputy CM chair or out of Maha alliance: Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

AFTER the resignation of Maharashtra Assembly Speaker Nana Patole, Congress may demand the deputy chief minister's post in Uddhav Thackeray's government.

Congress sources said that Rahul Gandhi has asked leaders in Maharashtra to balance the power-sharing. "If the demand is not fulfilled, then Congress may pull out of the Maha Vikas Aghadi government or support it from outside without sharing power. Rahul has asked leaders to be aggressive with their demands," said a highly-placed source.

Congress MLAs have complained to the party brass that they are not getting due importance. In Maha Vikas Aghadi, Shiv Sena has 57 MLAs, NCP 54 and Congress 44. Nana Patole has taken charge as president of Congress state unit.

"In decision making Sena and NCP are in the forefront while Congress is ignored. Sena has the CM and NCP the deputy CM. Congress has no important post. We explained this to Rahul and he is convinced for the deputy CM's post," added the source.

He said Deputy CM Ajit Pawar calls meetings of officers and takes major decisions. "If this continues, Congress will lose its space to either NCP or Sena."

Pawar clarified that during the formation of government, all three parties sat together and worked out a power-sharing formula. "Now, there is no talk of giving the deputy CM post to Congress," the NCP leader clarified.

Two minors raped in MP, accused had targeted victim's aunt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

TWO separate cases of sexual assaults on minors on the same day have rocked Madhya Pradesh.

While a 4-year-old Dalit girl was allegedly abducted, raped and murdered in Morena district on Thursday evening, a 5-year-old girl was allegedly kidnapped and sexually assaulted in Rewa district. The accused in both cases were arrested. The Rewa survivor is undergoing treatment at Sanjay Gandhi Medical College.

Shockingly, the accused in Morena case was arrested six months ago for raping the girl's aunt and had come out of jail on bail just a fortnight back.

According to local residents, the accused took the girl away luring her by buying a chocolate for her, after two other children fled into the house seeing him. Later, her body was found lying outside the village. The girl lived with her grandparents, as her parents work as labourers in Jaipur.

According to Sabalgarh police station in-charge Narendra Sharma, the arrested man has been booked for abduction, rape and murder under IPC Sections and also under provisions of Pocso Act and the SC/ST Atrocities Act.

Angry villagers blocked the road in Morena on Friday morning, demanding that the accused be hanged to death.

In Rewa, the accused turned out to be a neighbour who had dumped her in a hut in critical condition. The minor is said to be stable now.

Last month, a 13-year-old girl was kidnapped and gang raped in Umaria, while another was raped and murdered in Khandwa. Both accused have been arrested.

Pro-democracy teachers join protest against junta

Military continued its crackdown on activists, students amid internet blackout even as cymbals clanged for civilian govt's reinstatement

NAYPYIDAW

HUNDREDS of teachers and students protested at a Myanmar university Friday as the military widened a dragnet against officials ousted in a coup that has drawn global condemnation and the threat of new sanctions. The rally took place after the arrest of Win Htein, a key aide to de facto leader Aung Sang Suu Kyi, who has not been seen in public since being detained along with president Win Myint early Monday.

A representative of Suu Kyi's National League for Democracy said Friday she was being held at her residence in Naypyidaw, the country's capital, and was "in good health".

"As far as I know, she's under house arrest and has not been taken to another place yet," NLD press officer Kyi Toe told AFP. Her lawyer Khin Maung Zaw told reporters he has not had contact with her yet.

On Friday, around 200 teachers and students at Yangon's Dagon University staged a rally where they displayed a three-finger salute borrowed from Thailand's democracy movements and sang a popular revolutionary song.

"We have to resist this dictatorship," lecturer Win Win Maw told AFP. "If all civil servants participate in this movement, it's not easy to operate this government system."

Students chanted "Long live Mother Suu" and carried red flags, the colour of Suu Kyi's National League for Democracy (NLD) party. A similar protest took place across town in Yangon University.

In the capital Naypyidaw, dozens of employees from several government ministries posed for group photographs wearing red ribbons and flashing the democracy symbol.

Hours before Friday's university protest, Win Htein was arrested at his daughter's house, said Kyi Toe.

The 79-year-old NLD stalwart, considered Suu Kyi's right-hand man, has spent long stretches in detention for campaigning against military rule. Speaking to local media ahead of his arrest, Win Htein called on people to "oppose (the coup) as much as they can".

According to the Assistance Association for Political Prisoners (AAPP), a Yangon-based group that monitors political arrests in Myanmar, more than 130 officials and lawmakers have been detained.

Telecom providers in the country were ordered to cut access to Facebook, the main means of communication and accessing the internet for millions of people in Myanmar.

'Hope broken'

With Facebook stifled, more have moved to Twitter in recent days or started using VPN services to bypass the blockade. A so-called Civil Disobedience Movement has gathered pace online, calling on the public to voice opposition every night by banging pots and clanging cymbals. So far, at least 14 activists and prominent pro-democracy figures have been arrested.

Another four university students from Mandalay were charged Friday for protesting at a small rally the day before without permission and breaking coronavirus rules. As they were escorted out of court in chains, they flashed a defiant three-finger salute to the waiting media.

With Harris' first casting vote, $1.9tn Covid aid fast-tracked

WASHINGTON

THE US Senate passed a budget resolution early on Friday that will allow Democrats to pass President Joe Biden's $1.9 trillion pandemic relief package without Republican support.

Vice President Kamala Harris cast the tie-breaking vote to make it 51-50, concluding a process known as a 'vote-a-rama' in which senators addressed dozens of amendments. Some drew support from both parties, such as an amendment seeking to bar high income Americans from receiving $1,400 Covid-19 relief checks.

The vote was a procedural one that did not approve Biden's first big legislative initiative itself. Rather, it set the stage for Democrats to be able to pass it on a party line vote, without the risk of a filibuster by Republicans, many of whom oppose Biden's bill because they say it is too expensive.

The House already passed a budget resolution earlier this week but it will have to be reconciled with the Senate version. Biden has reached out to Republicans on the Covid package but warned that he is willing to act without them, saying the government must act with urgency as the pandemic continues to strangle the economy.

After the vote, Senate Majority leader Chuck Schumer said, "this was a giant first step, a step in concord." But Senator John Cornyn, a Republican from Texas, argued that most of the money from the last relief bill passed by Congress in December has not even been disbursed yet. "This reconciliation process is designed not to encourage bipartisanship, not to encourage negotiation, not to get bipartisan buy-in," Cornyn said.

Uighurs fear sellout amid China vax deal

Ankara: Opposition legislators in Turkey are accusing Ankara's leaders of secretly selling out Uighurs to China in exchange for coronavirus vaccines. Tens of millions of vials of promised Chinese vaccines have not yet been delivered. Meanwhile, in recent months, Turkish police have raided and detained around 50 Uighurs in deportation centers, lawyers say — a sharp uptick from last year. Although no hard evidence has yet emerged for a quid pro quo, these legislators and the Uighurs fear that Beijing is using the vaccines as leverage to win passage of an extradition treaty. The treaty was signed years ago but suddenly ratified by China in December, and could come before Turkish lawmakers as soon as this month.

CONGRESSWOMAN STRIPPED OF POSTS FOR WEAVING CONSPIRACY THEORIES

WASHINGTON

A Democratic-led US House voted Thursday to discipline a congresswoman who embraced QAnon conspiracy theories and endorsed violence, capping weeks of mounting turmoil over holding to account a lawmaker whose extremist rhetoric caused a rupture in Republican ranks.

Conservative first-term congresswoman Marjorie T Greene, facing bipartisan opprobrium for a series of disturbing comments and support of social media posts advocating the assassination of Democratic lawmakers, was stripped of her two assignments on the House education and budget committees.

The punishment was meted out in a bipartisan vote of 230 to 199 which occurred hours after Greene, a fierce supporter of former president Donald Trump, took to the House floor to renounce the conspiracy movement and expressed regret for spreading misinformation.

Eleven Republicans defied their party to join all voting Democrats in disciplining Greene, whose actions before she ran for office included posting video of herself harassing a teen school shooting survivor and casting doubt on the September 11, 2001 attacks.

Sri Lanka settled a $400 million currency swap facility with India, the Indian High Commission here said on Friday. The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) and the Central Bank of Sri Lanka (CBSL) concluded the currency swap agreement in July last year under the SAARC currency swap framework. Beijing warns off US warship from South China Sea island, claims territory as its own

China on Friday warned off a US warship sailing near contested islands in the South China Sea, Beijing said, the first such encounter made public since the inauguration of President Joe Biden. The USS John S. McCain "broke into China's Xisha territorial waters without the permission of the Chinese government," Beijing's military said, using its name for the disputed Paracel Islands. The PLA "organized naval and air forces to track, monitor and warn off" the warship, the Chinese military said, blasting the US for "violating China's sovereignty"

10 pro-govt militiamen killed in Taliban strike

At least 10 pro-government Afghan militiamen were killed in fierce overnight fighting after their checkpoint came under attack from Taliban fighters in northern Afghanistan, officials said Friday. The attack on the local militia, many of which work with overstretched security forces, came as violence surges across the country despite peace talks between the warring Taliban and Afghan government. Insurgents attacked the checkpoint in the restive Kunduz province during the night, provincial governor Abdul Sattar Mirzakwal told reporters. Kunduz provincial council member Amruddin Wali confirmed the attack but said at least 15 militiamen were killed. The Afghan government has been locked in peace talks with the Taliban that began in last September

Trump-era H-1B visa rule delayed, lottery system to stay

WASHINGTON

THE Biden administration has announced that it is delaying the H-1B policy of the previous Trump administration on allocation of the popular foreign work visas by continuing with the lottery system until December 31, 2021, to give the immigration agency more time to develop, test and implement the modifications to the registration system.

On January 7, the US Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) announced to do away with the traditional lottery system in deciding the successful applicants for the H-1B visas.

The H-1B visa is a non-immigrant visa that allows US companies to employ foreign workers in specialty occupations that require theoretical or technical expertise. The tech firms depend on it to hire tens of thousands of employees each year from countries like India and China.

The USCIS had said it would prioritise wages to protect the economic interests of American workers, and better ensure that the most highly skilled foreign workers benefit from the temporary employment programme. In a statement on Thursday, the USCIS said that it is delaying the rule's effective date until December 31, 2021. The Trump-era rule was scheduled to go into effect on March 9. Biden had promised to lift the suspension on H-1B visas, saying Trump's immigration policies are cruel.

Huthis keen to end war as US to stop backing Saudi

DUBAI

YEMEN's warring factions declared their readiness to act after US President Joe Biden called for renewed efforts to end their conflict, but experts said that a solution appears out of reach.

The grinding six-year war in Yemen has killed tens of thousands and displaced millions, triggering what the United Nations calls the world's worst humanitarian disaster. In his first major foreign policy speech since replacing Donald Trump last month, Biden appointed an envoy to push for peace and said the US would end all support for Saudi Arabia's war in Yemen. "This war has to end," Biden said.

The Huthi rebels, who control much of the country, including the capital Sanaa, said they supported the approach of the US.

RBI panel working on digital currency, decision expected soon

China, which is currently holding its second round of experiments with digital Yuan, has also gone in for its digital currency to take on the dominance of US dollar

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

JUST days after the union budget asserted that India would look at its digital rupee, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) announced on Friday that it was working on its digital currency and results were expected "very soon."

"We had a committee that is still on the drawing board. In fact, an internal committee is taking a close look to decide on the model of the central bank digital currency and you will hear from the Reserve Bank very soon in the matter," said Deputy Governor B P Kanungo.

A digital currency issued by the central bank would create a digital version of India's fiat currency: the rupee, officials said. Earlier on Tuesday, the Minister of State for Finance Anurag Singh Thakur had said the government will explore the use of blockchain technology for digital economy, in response to a question raised in the upper house. "There are many advantages of having a digital currency - managing cash on a national scale, implementing monetary policy more easily and catching tax cheats," said Amit Bannerjee, a merchant banker specialising in East Asian funds. However, increased control by the government on cash flows is considered the downside. Analysts believe that China which is currently holding its second round of field experiments with a digital Yuan has gone in for its digital currency partly to take on the dominance of the US dollar and partly to have stricter control over how its citizens earn and use their money.

In the budget session of 17th Lok Sabha that commenced last month, the government had listed a bill for creating the legislative framework for the official digital currency and for banning all private cryptocurrencies in India. A summary of the bill said it seeks "to create a facilitative framework for creation of the digital currency to be issued by the Reserve Bank of India." Officials said a survey of central banks conducted by the Bank for International Settlements had revealed that four out every five of the responding central banks have started projects to explore use of digital currencies, including Canada, USA and Singapore.

Three bids received for PMC Bank: RBI Guv

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RESERVE BANK Governor Shaktikanta Das on Friday said it has received three bids for the troubled Punjab Maharashtra Cooperative (PMC) Bank and the central bank is now evaluating the offers.

"I have been informed that final offers have been received. Again, I'm given to understand that PMC Bank is evaluating the offers. After the evaluation is over, they will approach us. It is under evaluation," Das said at a presser post RBI monetary policy announcement. The announcement comes as a relief for thousands of PMC Bank customers, whose hard-earned money is stuck in the bank for more than a year. A section of the PMC Bank depositors is yet to get their deposits back. The statement indicates that the resolution for the crisis-ridden co-operative bank is likely in the immediate future.

Deal nitty-gritties to revive the stressed bank

As per the EoI, that was floated to identify a suitable investor, subsequent to commencement of the normal day-to-day operations, it will be open for the investor(s) to convert the bank into a Small Finance Bank by making an application to RBI.

In September 2019, the RBI had superseded the board of PMC Bank after it detected fraudulent transactions and loans extended to the realty company HDIL. Then last month, PMC Bank administrator A K Dixit in a letter to customers and stakeholders had informed that three prospective investors were given time till February 1, 2021 for submission of their final offer. The RBI on December 18 said PMC Bank has received four Expressions of Interest, but did not specify the suitors. Sources indicated that among the potential bidders for the bank are UK-based Liberty Group, a combination of Centrum group and BharatPe. Besides, two other businesses have expressed interest in buying the Mumbai-based cooperative bank.

Eligible investors could be financial Institutions, including banks and NBFCs and individuals or group of individuals or any other such entities having adequate net worth. Sources say the RBI is planning to resolve the issue before March 31 this year.

BUDGET ANALYSIS

AFFORDABLE HOUSING TAKES CENTRE STAGE

As the Hon'ble Finance Minister announced the budget proposals, there were some 'firsts' to begin with, the budget itself was digital. The never before budget largely outlined six pillars of proposals to strengthen the vision of Atmanirbhar Bharat in healthcare & wellbeing, capital, infrastructure inclusive development, reinvigorating human capital, innovation and R&D, minimum government and maximum governance.

The growth-oriented incremental budget has laid out a roadmap for India's economy to move back to normalcy post the Covid-19 pandemic crisis. The fine balancing act of enhanced capital expenditure outlay without imposing an additional taxation is great relief, a measuredly surely laudable by India Inc. The innovative measures are in sync to catapult India to achieve its target of a $5 trillion economy.

REALTY TALKS

NIRANJAN HIRANANDANI
National President, NAREDCO

The bullish response from the equity market is indicative of its positive impact on India Inc. fostering the roadmap to augment Atmanirbhar Bharat vision. Also, the reaction of the individual taxpayer, whose concerns about higher direct taxes was also allayed. On the positive aspect, the aggressive investment in infrastructure allocated in the Budget will not just reinvigorate employment and investment, but also fulfil the need for sustainable economic revival. In turn, this stimulation will power off take and growth in real estate.

Special impetus to affordable housing by extending the deadline for additional ₹1.5 lakh as tax deduction given on loans taken to buy a house in an affordable housing project till March 31, 2022. Affordable housing projects also got an extension for tax benefits, for projects completed till March 31, 2022.

Similarly, tax exemption for notified affordable housing for migrant workers and the deduction on payment of interest for affordable housing have been extended by a year. These aspects need to be seen in reference to the aspect of affordable housing having been a fast growing segment for real estate. Budget also proposed incentivising rental housing for migrant labourers and to promote affordable rental under Section 80-IBA of the Income-Tax Act and this scheme will be notified in due course. Apartfrom the measures mentioned in the budget, affordable housing in Maharashtra will be the gainer — not just because the Budget has positives, but also because it attracts only 1 per cent GST and ₹1,000 as stamp duty.

From an industry perspective, setting up a long term development financial fund is a good move, as it will create additional lending options and address the liquidity constraint which impacts real estate. The renewed focus on privatisation and recapitalisation of banks is important, again from the same perspective of liquidity constraint. The one section where the budget lacks is demand incentives, which needed support.

Time-bound and proper implementation of the various measures tops the wish list of many Indians.

$43 BILLION PLAN FOR WIND FARM UNVEILED

South Korea unveiled a $43.2 billion plan to build the world's largest power plant to foster an environmental-friendly recovery from the pandemic. The proposed plant will have a maximum capacity of 8.2 gigawatts and is a major component of President Moon Jae-in's Green New Deal, initiated last year to curb reliance on fossil fuels in Asia's fourth-largest economy and make it carbon neutral by 2050. The companies will provide 47.6 trillion of the required fund and the remaining 0.9 trillion will be borne by the government. The project would provide up to 5,600 jobs and help achieve a goal to boost the country's wind power capacity to 16.5 GW by 2030 from 1.67 gw now. The envisaged 8.2 gw amounts to the energy produced by six nuclear reactors, or the effects of planting 71 million pine trees.

INDONESIA

TESLA SUBMITS INVESTMENT PROPOSAL

Indonesia has received an investment proposal from US electric vehicle maker Tesla, the country's deputy head for investment and mining coordination, Septian Hario Seto said. Indonesia is the world's biggest nickel producer, a material crucial for EV batteries, and has been publicly wooing Tesla to invest in the country to help develop its ambitious EV and battery industry. Once the top exporter of nickel, Indonesia stopped nickel shipments last year in an effort to develop a full nickel supply chain, starting from extraction, then processing into metals and chemicals used in batteries to meet the demand for electric vehicles. Elon Musk's Tesla, had last year said it was looking to find reliable sources of nickel globally after warning the current cost of batteries remained a hurdle to its growth.

JAPAN

HOUSEHOLD SPENDING FALLS IN DECEMBER

Japan's household spending fell for the first time in three months in December, implying consumer sentiment was weakening even before the government imposed a full emergency to control a new Covid-19 wave. Household spending fell 0.6 per cent in December over the previous year, data showed on Friday. In 2020, spending by households with at least two people fell 5.3 per cent due to the hit from the pandemic. It was down 6.5 per cent for all households, the worst drop since comparable data became available in 2001. Lower demand for services like travel tours also weighed, as the pandemic forced the cancellation of domestic tourism promotions. Spending on accommodation fell 43.7 per cent, while overseas and domestic tour travel expenditure slumped 85.8 per cent and 61.9 per cent, respectively. In contrast, spending on computers and TVs grew 30 per cent, while gaming software consumption rose by nearly half.

Unchanged rates good for homebuyers, say realtors

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) decision to keep lending rates unchanged and maintain status quo for the fourth time in a row was widely welcomed by country's real estate players. However, a majority of them stated that the government should have reduced the rates a bit more to boost demand.

"Under the given market scenario and circumstance, the RBI's direction on unchanged repo rate is very much on the anticipated lines though a rate cut would have been better to combat the negativity of pandemic-led economic crisis across the industry," Naredco President Niranjan Hiranandani said. Repo rate stood at record low levels of 4 per cent. RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das mentioned that data for sales and new launches of residential units in major metropolitan centres reflect a renewed confidence in the realty sector.

According to Anurag Mathur, CEO, Savills India, even as there was no downward revision of benchmark lending rates, the accommodative stance should be helpful for real estate as well as infrastructure which was one of the key focus areas in this year's budget. "Inflation being under the tolerance limit of 6 per cent, gives the reserve bank, the ammunition of further reduction of rates and all-inclusive growth for all sectors including real estate in the upcoming fiscal year," he added.

Experts added that the measures on enhanced bank funding window for NBFCs will also benefit the stressed real estate. "As seen in the past few months, housing markets in the country have responded well to the low home loan interest rates," Knight Frank India CMD Shishir Baijal, said.

Advance estimates indicate that the economy may contract as much as 7.7 per cent in FY21. "In such a scenario, one would usually expect RBI to cut repo rates in order to boost consumption. We are certain that rates will be adjusted favourably once the pandemic exigencies ease," said Anuj Puri, chairman of Anarock PropertyConsultants.

M&M profit dips on Ssangyong bankruptcy

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HOMEGROWN auto major Mahindra & Mahindra (M&M) on Friday reported a 6 per cent year-on-year decline in consolidated profit after tax due to discontinued operations. Net profit after tax stood at ₹159.6 crore for the third quarter ended in December (Q3FY21).

"In the consolidated financial statement, the loss from operation of SYMC (Ssangyong Motor Company), including impairments aggregating to ₹1,938.35 crore and gain on deconsolidation of SYMC as a subsidiary aggregating to ₹940.03 crore resulted in a net loss of ₹998.32 crore, which has been presented as profit/loss from discontinued operations," the company said. Out of this net loss, M&M said ₹563.84 crore is attributable to the company. On a standalone basis, M&M registered 90 per cent year-on-year decline in PAT at ₹30.93 crore. Based on the management judgement and best estimated assumptions of the realisation of the realisable value of the assets relating to SYMC, the company said it had recognised an impairment of ₹1,210.48 crore in the standalone financial results. M&Malso said it may not be able to complete the majority stake sale in its South Korean unit SYMC by 28 February as planned earlier.

M&M's consolidated revenue from operations stood at ₹21,625.95 crore during the quarter while its standalone revenues from operations were at ₹14,215.90 crore.

M&M said its main concerns during the quarter were supply issues, especially the shortage of semiconductors impacted the availability of ECUs, due to a high dependence on one supplier. Also, there was a steep increase in commodity prices, partially offset by a sales prices increase and value engineering actions, it added. On the outlook, the company said for the auto sector, with key indicators showing positive momentum, the year 2021 has started with strong momentum.

SURVEY

Work from anywhere a key challenge

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

AS the world navigates through new normal after massive disruptions in 2020, top CEOs in India see regulatory framework, technology and work from anywhere as key challenges they will have to tackle until 2023, a new survey by IBM revealed. The survey quizzed CEOs from the organisations whose revenue growth was in the top 20 per cent. The corporate honchos are prioritising talent, technology and partnerships to position their companies on the growth trajectory.

According to IBM statistics, nearly 45 per cent of CEOs said they will prioritise employee well-being even if it costs near-term profit whereas 35 per cent saw 'anywhere workplace' as the top leadership challenge in the next 2-3 years. The surveyed CEOs said IoT, Cloud, AI/Machine Learning, robotic process automation and advanced analytics were the top technologies that they believe can deliver benefits for their business. This aligns to the fact that many global surveyed CEOs also placed the CIO and CTO in their post-pandemic inner circle of most crucial C-Suite members, the survey noted. With maiden Data protection Bill coming soon, the CEOs feel that regulations may also impact businesses.

Daruvala takes championship lead

Mumbai Falcons and Jehan Daruvala continued their good run with a second consecutive win in the Asian F 3 Championship in Abu Dhabi on Friday. Jehan had to fight tooth and nail to win Race 2 and also completed a hat-trick of podiums to finish second in Race 3 and move into the championship lead.

GROWING ROOT, SEEKING FRUIT

In his milestone 100th Test, visiting team's skipper composes a special hundred to corner honours on Day 1

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

LOOKING at the scorecard, it isn't hard to guess whose day it was at the MA Chidambaram Stadium. Joe Root, playing his 100th Test, stroked a delightful century to ensure England's decision to bat first on a flat pitch wasn't wasted. For company he had Dom Sibley, not the most gifted batsman, but one with grit and determination. Their 200-run stand for the third wicket, first by a visiting team in nine years in India, took England to 263-3 at the end of Day 1 leaving Virat Kohli & Co with lot of work to do.

Before getting down to the business, it's time to take a few things into consideration. As Root said at the end of the day's play, they are looking to score 600-700. This indicates how flat the pitch is and how hard it is for the bowlers bowling with the SG ball, whose new pronounced seam is already under the microscope. Though 263-3 is already a good enough platform for the likes of Ben Stokes, Jos Buttler and Ollie Pope, England have work to do. During their previous tour of India in 2016, England, at close on Day 1 on four of the five Tests, were 311/4, 288/5, 284/4 and 268/8 respectively. They ended up drawing one and losing three, including two by an innings.

Those scores came on flat decks which deteriorated as the Test progressed. By the early looks of it, this pitch looks the same, particularly with the red-soil content bound to create roughs on Day 4 and 5. That India responded to those scores with bigger totals is why Root wants England to make this big. Going by how he batted, there is a strong chance that India may have to be on the field for way longer than they would like.

03 No of centuries for Root this year so far.

England skipper Joe Root leaps in the air to celebrate his century on Day 1 of the first Test against India, in Chennai | SPORTZPICS

Captain at his best

There were signs that Root was falling behind in the Fab Four club including Virat Kohli, Steve Smith and Kane Williamson. Much of that talk came from his conversion rate, which remains the lowest among the four. Among them, he is the only one who averages less than 50. Despite scoring four fifties in 2016, he made only one ton. On his second full trip to India, he looks more confident.

The 70s and 80s is the period where you often feel Root is going to throw it away. On Friday, there were no such signs. Having arrived in India on the back of two daddy hundreds in Sri Lanka (228 & 186), Root has only carried his form. From the moment he came into bat, he looked in total command of what he was doing. Everything from body language to defending of the front foot to leaning into drives and sweeping with conviction, Root appeared as if he was there to make a big score. This was akin to the musical maestro Illayraaja composing a symphony bound to stand the test of times.

"It has been an impressive start and we got to make it count. That's going to be the challenge for this tour, we need to bat long periods of time in these conditions. Playing the 100th Test was special. Coming in with some good form, I need to make sure I cash in. Over the course of my career I've not always gone to make big scores, so for me to be going and doing that currently is pleasing. I keep getting myself in positions to make big tons and I've got to keep taking them. We're going to win more games if I'm doing that. Hopefully I can kick on tomorrow (Saturday) personally but most importantly we can have a bat tomorrow and we can be in a strong position in this game," Root said.

Root's innings was a template that his teammates could follow. Off the first 50 balls, he scored only 11 runs. A player who sweeps for fun, he didn't bring out the shot against Ravichandran Ashwin and Shahbaz Nadeem. He waited till Washington Sundar came on. Once he started sweeping, runs flowed. It was a gradual shift, a batsman in command of what he was doing as the next 137 deliveries he faced fetched him 111 runs.

SCOREBOARD

England: Burns c Pant b Ashwin 33, Sibley lbw Bumrah 87, Lawrence lbw Bumrah 0, Root (batting) 128. Extras (lb4, nb11) 15. Total (89.3 overs, 3 wickets) 263. Fall of wickets: 1-63, 2-63, 3-263. Bowling: Ishant 15-3-27-0, Bumrah 18.3-2-40-2, Ashwin, 24-2-68-1, Nadeem 20-3-69-0, Washington 12-0-55-0.

Dom Sibley fell 13 runs short of a century on the first day of the first Test against India | SPORTZPICS

1 England skipper is the first player to score hundreds in 98th, 99th and 100 Test.

3 The last time India picked three or fewer wickets in the opening day of a Test after bowling first was against Australia at SCG (348/2) in 2014.

192 The three Indian spinners between them went for 192 runs off 56 overs, taking just one wicket.

3 Root is the third batsman to score a century in their 100th Test against India.

200 Joe Root & Dom Sibley is the first pair to share a 200-run stand against India in India since the 208 by Jonathan Trott & Ian Bell in Nagpur in 2012.

Left with limited options without saliva: Bumrah

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

"MEHENAT karna padega, boys (need to do hard work," Rishabh Pant said from behind the stumps as Joe Root and Dom Sibley played out what was the toughest phase of the day when Jasprit Bumrah was reversing the ball. Pant's words proved true as India definitely face more bowling work on Saturday on a Chepauk pitch that is on the slower side. That they haven't let the visitors get away, even without the services of Ravindra Jadeja, is in itself a credible effort.

With the 'English look' the curator promised disappearing, and the ball keeping low as early as the sixth over, India knew they had a lot to do. Given the red soil on the pitch, India went in with three spinners as they expected the pitch to offer turn. Instead, Ravichandran Ashwin, Shahbaz Nadeem and Washington Sundar had to be content bowling on a slow surface, which allowed Sibley and Root to defend as and when they wanted.

While a last-minute injury to Axar Patel forced the hosts to bench Kuldeep Yadav again and play Washington and Nadeem, Jadeja's miss was felt. Even though Ashwin was his usual self, with Jadeja not around to keep up the pressure, Root and Sibley found ways to release the pressure. Except in the second session where Bumrah found reverse swing, India had to resort to damage limitation.

With a ban on saliva still on and the outfield lush green, finding reverse-swing proved difficult for India, especially in the final session. "The ball did become soft after a while and the wicket is on flatter side with less bounce. You are left with limited options (to shine ball). We are trying to figure out what we can do with the limited things in hand, at that time," Bumrah said at the end of the day.

Thanks to the nature of the pitch, the new SG ball did appear to soften earlier than expected, which meant the bounce on offer was also low. As the Test progresses, the pitch might get even slower. "It becomes difficult when the ball becomes soft and doesn't shine well because of new Covid-19 rules, we can't use saliva, very difficult during that time to maintain the ball. In India, the ball gets scuffed up easily. So to make the ball heavy, you have to shine one side sometimes, with sweat it doesn't serve the purpose. You can't make one side heavy with sweat and it doesn't work that way," Bumrah added.

Djokovic beats Zverev but Germany in semis

AFP @Melbourne

NOVAK Djokovic fought past Alexander Zverev but it wasn't enough to stave off defeat for Serbia in the ATP Cup on Friday, with Germany making the semifinals alongside a Spanish team missing injured Rafael Nadal. The World No 1 was tested in his singles rubber before outlasting Zverev 6-7 (3/7), 6-2, 7-5.

But the German got revenge in the deciding doubles, teaming with Jan-Lennard Struff to edge Djokovic and Nikola Cacic 7-6 (7/4), 5-7, 10-7 and ensure they made a last four clash against Daniil Medvedev's Russia. Struff earlier beat Dusan Lajovic in the other singles tie.

Meanwhile, Nadal was once again missing from the Spanish team as they lost 2-1 to Greece.

He watched from the team box as Pablo Carreno Busta and Roberto Bautista Agut led the challenge against Michail Pervolarakis and Stefanos Tsitsipas.

Carreno Busta, ranked 16th, had few problems in thrashing Pervolarakis 6-3, 6-4 to guarantee their spot in the playoff rounds against Italy.

Australia were already eliminated from their group heading into Friday's match, while Greece needed to win the tie 3-0 to advance.

"With this victory, we are into the semifinals, so it was very important to us," Carreno Busta said. "I tried to be focussed on myself, to try to play my best game."

Bautista Agut couldn't match the exploits, crashing 7-5, 7-5 to World No 6 Tsitsipas, who boasts two wins from two in a promising start to his season.

Action from the match between Bengaluru and Chennaiyin on Friday | ISL

Same old story for Chennaiyin

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

ANOTHER match, same old story. Chennaiyin FC created numerous chances but again failed to convert them. The end result was a 0-0 against Bengaluru FC in ISL at the Fatorda Stadium. Blues and India goalkeeper Gurpreet Singh Sandhu stood firm between the sticks, making numerous saves, thwarting all the Chennaiyin front men time and again.

The result does neither team any favours in their pursuit of reaching the top four. Bengaluru remain sixth with 18 points from 15 games, while last year's runners-up continue to be eighth, with 16 points from 15. With five games to go, the task is getting harder for both the teams to make the cut.

This was Chennaiyin's sixth goalless draw and they are the lowest scoring team in the league, but not because of lack of creating chances. Even in this game, chances fell to Esmael Gonçalves, Lallianzuala Chhangte, Manuel Lanzarote, and Memo but they could not score.

Tuchel hails fast start at Chelsea after piling more misery on Spurs

AFP @London

CHELSEA climbed into the Premier League top six as Thomas Tuchel earned the first major victory of his short time in charge of the Blues with a 1-0 win at Tottenham on Thursday.

Jorginho's penalty midway through the first-half was scant reward for Chelsea's dominance on another damaging night for Spurs boss Jose Mourinho against his former club.

"We are super happy about the result. It was a tough game against a strong opponent, but we did very well and controlled the game well," said Tuchel, who has taken seven points from three games in his first eight days in charge.

"It's not about my methods. I'm happy with the attitude, the squad, the potential.

"It's a nice group and they are open. It's a pleasure to be around them. We have a lot of support in the whole club. It was a quick start, but an easy one because I feel very welcome."

Since a 2-0 victory over Arsenal in early December took Tottenham top of the table, they have won just twice in their last 10 league games to not only see hopes of a first league title in 60 years disappear, but their chances of even making the top four rapidly recede.

For the first time in Mourinho's managerial career, he has lost back-to-back home league games.

Chelsea's Christian Pulisic (L) in action against Spurs in the Premier League | AFP

Spurs now sit eighth, seven points off the Champions League places, and behind Chelsea, who saw fit to make a managerial change last week after a drastic dip in form under Frank Lampard.

A run of 13 points from 12 games is also worse than the slow start to last season that saw Mauricio Pochettino sacked as Spurs boss, 12 matches into the campaign.

Tottenham were again without the injured Harry Kane, but that still did not excuse a complete lack of attacking threat from Mourinho's men as they failed to score for the second consecutive game.

"You know what Harry means for the confidence of the players," said Mourinho.

"The reality of the first-half was with them being superior was a penalty that decided the first-half and that decided the game. I believe in the second-half we deserved more than what we got."

Liverpool versus Leipzig in Champions League?

BERLIN: Talks are reportedly underway to hold Liverpool's Champions League last 16 first leg tie at RB Leipzig in Budapest although the German club said no decision had yet been made.

The six-time winners have been stopped from entering Germany for the fixture on February 16 because of strict entry rules imposed due to the coronavirus pandemic. UEFA's regulations say the Bundesliga side must find a way of hosting the match or risk forfeiting it as a 3-0 defeat.

A $43 billion deal was signed Friday to build what the South Korean government said will be the world's biggest offshore wind power complex, as it seeks to achieve carbon neutrality by 2050. South Korea relies on imported coal for around 40% of its electricity. With a maximum capacity of 8.2 gigawatts, the complex could be the equivalent of six nuclear power stations.

Study links climate crisis to coronavirus emergence

ENVIRONMENT

PARIS: Climate change may have played a "key role" in the transmission of the novel coronavirus to humans by driving several species of pathogen-carrying bats into closer contact.

The virus, which has killed more than two million people and caused unprecedented global disruption, is thought to have originated in bats in Southeast Asia.

Researchers from the University of Cambridge used temperature and rainfall data over the last 100 years to model populations of dozens of bat species based on their habitat requirements.

They found that over the last century, 40 species had relocated to southern China, Laos and Myanmar -- the area where genetic analysis suggests the virus first appeared. Since each bat species carries an average of 2.7 coronaviruses, the researchers said 100 strains of coronavirus were now concentrated in this "hotspot" area.

"Our paper is a long way away from saying the pandemic would not have happened without climate change," lead author Robert Meyer said. "But I find it difficult to see that this climate-driven increase in bats and bat-borne coronaviruses make something like this less likely to happen." While the chain of transmission from animals to humans is yet to be determined, the changing climate and habitat destruction had driven virus-carriers into closer contact with humans.

Energy island to be built in North Sea

World's 1st artificial island for green energy will be linked to 100s of wind turbines & supply power to several nations

TECHNOLOGY

COPENHAGEN: Denmark has approved plans to build an artificial island in the North Sea that could generate wind power for at least three million households, a government spokesman said Friday.

Work is due to begin by 2026, he added.

The Danish parliament adopted in June a political environmental framework aimed at reducing the country's CO2 emissions by 70 percent by 2030, which included plans for the world's first "energy hubs" on the island of Bornholm in the Baltic Sea and in the North Sea.

On Thursday, parliament went further by approving a plan to place the North Sea hub on an artificial island, with a wind power farm that will initially supply three gigawatts (GW) of electricity.

That could later be scaled up to 10 GW -- enough for 10 million households -- according to the Danish Ministry of Climate, Energy and Utilities.

The island is to be majority owned by the Danish government in partnership with private companies.

Its final size is yet to be decided but it is expected to cover between 120,000 to 460,000 square meters (about 1.3 to 5 million square feet), ministry spokesperson Emil Lee Madsen told AFP. The total number of wind turbines has not been finalised either, but estimates range between 200 and 600 units at "a previously unseen scale," with the tip of the blades reaching as high as 260 meters (850 feet) above the sea. The project's next steps include environmental impact assessments and talks with potential investors, so construction is possibly still some years off.

"At this point it seems like initial construction will actually begin around 2026, and hopefully it will be finished sometime between 2030 and 2033," Lee Madsen said, noting that some delays were probable so closer to 2033 was more realistic.

At full capacity, the island would provide more wind power than Denmark needs for its population of 5.8 million.

Other countries could then plug into the hub to "increase the efficiency of the electricity production from the wind farms by distributing it across the European power grid," the ministry said.

Presently, Denmark has 1.7 gigawatts of off-shore wind mill capacity. When the energy island off western Denmark and a smaller one in the Baltic Sea are built, Denmark's off-shore capacity is expected to be seven times higher.

FACT OF THE MATTER

J&J seeks US vax approval

MEDICINE

Pharmaceutical giant Johnson & Johnson asked US regulators on Thursday for emergency authorization of its single-shot Covid vaccine as Germany raised hopes of a potential easing of virus curbs, offering some encouraging signs in the fight against the coronavirus pandemic. If approved, the vaccine would be the third in the hard-hit United States and offers logistical advantages because it doesn't require two doses and the deep-freeze storage needed for already approved shots. However trials showed the Johnson & Johnson vaccine does not protect as well against a highly transmissible virus variant first identified in South Africa, which is spreading rapidly around the world.

A shot against virus variants

MEDICINE

German biotech firm CureVac said it has struck a deal with the UK government to develop and manufacture potential vaccines against Covid-19 variants. The company will work with the government's Vaccines Taskforce to assess virus variants and generate vaccine candidates against those selected, it said. Clinical studies will then be held in the UK in order to win approval for selected vaccine candidates against the most threatening variants. "CureVac is expected to supply 50 million doses of variant vaccines to the UK, subject to regulatory approval... Any resulting vaccine candidates will be manufactured and distributed in the UK and its overseas and dependent territories," the company said.

US in tug-of-war with teachers over reopening schools

EDUCATION

LOS ANGELES: From lawsuits in San Francisco to threats of a remote learning "lockout" in Chicago, US officials are ramping up the pressure on teachers and their unions to reopen schools that have been closed for almost a year due to Covid. Education professionals are fighting back, insisting that the dangers of sending teachers -- many elderly and at-risk -- back to classrooms alongside hundreds of students is too great until vaccinations are completed.

The row has escalated amid mounting frustration from parents forced to stay home some 11 months to look after children, and multiplying examples of school dropouts and psychological issues especially in disadvantaged communities.

This week, the American Academy of Pediatrics' southern California chapter joined a growing chorus calling for immediate reopenings. Eric Toner, a Johns Hopkins Center for Disease Control specialist, told the Los Angeles Times, "The consensus now is that reopening schools does make sense".

But that "consensus" is disputed by many education workers on the ground, including the 300,000-member California Teachers Association. "No one wants to be back in classrooms with students more than educators, who know there is no equal substitute for regular in-person learning," spokeswoman Claudia Briggs told AFP.

"For that to happen, there must be multilayered safety measures in place," including adequate ventilation, smaller class sizes, testing and tracing programs, she said.

"School districts have made very clear that they do not have the resources," Briggs added, pointing to a lack of funding.

An estimated half of the 55 million US school students are still to set foot in a classroom, 11 months since the virus forced schools to close nationwide. In Chicago, the nation's third-largest school district, teachers and the city council are locked in battle, threatening strikes and a "lockdown" of remote learning systems respectively.

Case report sheds light on virus reinfection

SCIENCE

PARIS: Waning immunity in some people following the first episode of infection with the novel coronavirus may make them more susceptible to reinfection. Research in BMJ Case Reports noted that severe infection the first time around may be followed by milder symptoms second time.

Authors in the US described the case of a man in his 40s who was admitted to hospital with mild Covid-19 infection four months after an initial bout of severe disease in April 2020.

They said the man had well-controlled type 2 diabetes, an underactive thyroid gland, and was obese -- known risk factors for severe Covid-19. During his first bout of infection he was hospitalised with breathing difficulties and a high-pitched wheeze due to broken airflow.

The man also had respiratory failure, and required mechanical ventilation and blood thinners as well as other drugs used to treat COVID-19. Then in August, he tested positive again after four negative tests during the preceding three months. While he stayed at the hospital for only one day this time, two weeks later he was admitted again with shortness of breath, intermittent choking, and shortness of breath.

Explaining the positive test results the authors suggested this might be due to reinfection with the virus.

Amazon's AI-cameras for drivers

TECHNOLOGY

Amazon on Thursday confirmed plans to install artificial intelligence-imbued cameras in delivery vehicles, describing it as part of an initiative to keep drivers safe. The cameras are designed to watch the road and the driver, noting concerns as well as good practices, according to a tutorial video. "We are investing in safety across our operations and recently started rolling out industry leading camera-based safety technology across our delivery fleet," the e-commerce colossus said in response to an AFP inquiry. "This technology will provide drivers real-time alerts to help them stay safe when they are on the road." Word of Amazon watching over delivery drives with smart cameras was met with concerns about privacy and the potential for unfairly harsh scrutiny by the company. "This amounts to the largest expansion of corporate surveillance in human history," Fight for the Future deputy directory Evan Green said in a statement from the digital rights group. "We're demanding that Amazon immediately stop the roll out of this unsafe program, and we call on Congress to launch a full investigation into Amazon's surveillance empire."

Human noise becoming unbearable for fish in the oceans, new research says

STUDY

WASHINGTON: Not only are humans changing the surface and temperature of the planet, but also its sounds – and those shifts are detectable even in the open ocean.

Changes in the ocean soundscape affect wide swaths of marine life, from tiny snapping shrimp to huge right whales, the researchers found.

"Sounds travel very far underwater. For fish, sound is probably a better way to sense their environment than light," said Francis Juanes, an ecologist at the University of Victoria in Canada and a co-author of the paper in the journal Science.

While light tends to scatter in water, he said, sounds travel much faster through water than through air.

Many fish and marine animals use sound to communicate with each other, to locate promising locations to breed or feed, and possibly to detect predators. For example, snapping shrimp make a sound resembling popping corn that stuns their prey. Humpback whale songs can resemble a violinist's melodies.

But increased noise from shipping traffic, motorized fishing vessels, underwater oil and gas exploration, offshore construction and other human activity is making it harder for fish to hear each other.

The researchers sifted through thousands of data sets and research articles documenting changes in noise volume and frequency to assemble a comprehensive picture of how the ocean soundscape is changing – and how marine life is impacted. Using underwater microphones, scientists can record fish sounds – which tend to hover around the same low frequencies as shipping traffic noise. "For many marine species, their attempts to communicate are being masked by sounds that humans have introduced," said Carlos Duarte, a marine ecologist at the Red Sea Research Center in Saudi Arabia and co-author of the paper.

The Red Sea is one of the world's key shipping corridors, full of large vessels traveling to Asia, Europe and Africa. Some fish and invertebrates now avoid the noisiest areas, as the sound effectively fragments their Red Sea habitat, he said.

Meanwhile the overall number of marine animals has declined by about half since 1970. In some parts of the ocean, scientists now record "fewer animals singing and calling than in the past – those voices are gone," said Duarte.

Climate change also influences physical processes that shape ocean sounds, such as winds, waves and melting ice.

"Imagine having to raise your kids in a place that's noisy all the time. It's no wonder many marine animals are showing elevated and detectable levels of stress due to noise," said Joe Roman, a University of Vermont marine ecologist, who was not involved in the paper. "Sound pollution may be simpler to address than other ocean threats, said University of Victoria's Juanes. "In theory, you can reduce or turn off sound immediately — it's not plastics or climate change."

FUN WITH FUSION

With a blend of Carnatic music and metal, city-based band Project MishraM is making waves online with their version of the classic 18th century composition by Thyagaraja

MONIKA MONALISA

Whenever Carnatic fusion music is discussed, the first song that is likely to pop up in the minds of many is Maha Ganapathim Manasa Smarami from the film Morning Raga. While the song still remains a classic, the city-based Project MishraM's Kanakana is also finding a spot in many playlists. The song, which came out on Jan. 29 on their YouTube channel, has crossed 40,000 views as of now.

The song, which also features the band Kmac2021, is the band's take on the 18th century Carnatic composition Kanakanaruchira, by the legendary composer Thyagaraja. "Traditionally, the raga holds a gambhira tone, so we did a fusion with metal, which has a dark and aggressive side to it," says Shivaraj Nataraj, a techie and the vocalist and beatboxer of the seven-member band. The other members are Anirudh Koushik (flute), Pranav Swaroop B N (violin), Ram Srinivas (bass), Sanath Shanbhogue Manikkara (drums, mridangam), Srishankar Sundar (guitars) and Sumant Nemmani. Natraj shares that the song is from their first album Meso, which is going to be released soon. The album is mixed and produced by Thejus Nair.

Making a fusion might not be new to them but the taste of being an internet sensation is. Nataraj, 24, says though they did a bit of promotion for the song, it going viral on the internet was a pleasant surprise. But while the songs have a fan following, ask Nataraj if he ever thought a fusion could spark any kind of controversy among traditionalists, and he says, "We are not trying to disrespect anything. It's our take on the song."

Speaking about the story behind the unconventional band name, Nataraj – who has been learning Carnatic music since the age of five – says Mishram means "mix" in Sanskrit .

The band started out in RV College of Engineering and garnered popularity as the members attended fests and inter-collegiate competitions. Apart from metal, they also mix hard rock, progressive and djent tunes to create their songs, keeping Carnatic music as a common thread in their work.

Strokes of CHANGE

This ongoing exhibition features the works of transgender artists as it tries to make art more inclusive

EXPRESS FEATURES

The field of art is often criticised for being too elite. But Kalki Subramaniam is now trying to change that, one painting at a time. The transgender activist and artist, through Sahodari Foundation, which has been founded by her, is organising an art show that features the paintings of 25 transgender artists from different parts of India. The show, titled We Are Not The Others, is being held at Bangalore International Centre, Domlur, till Feb. 7.

"Besides helping the transgender community earn from their creative outlets, art can also be a stepping stone that enables more self-worth and healing," says Subramaniam. The paintings will range from ₹1,000 to ₹30,000 and include different types of surrealistic, abstract and pop art. While some have been made by individuals, others include works made by nine artists together. "While most of the 25 artists are transgender, some are also gender fluid. Since many who belong to these community are abandoned, it is difficult to tell where each one hails from. But our group has someone from Kerala, Bengal and Tamil Nadu. There's a mix of many states," says Subramaniam, whose portraits of Frida Kahlo and Korean boy band member Kim Taehyung are also on display at the exhibition.

The event has been supported by the Inner Wheel Club of Bangalore and will also see workshops, available free of cost, for those who belong to the queer community. These include introduction to photography, abstract painting workshop, flow painting workshop, motivation workshop, Madhubhani art workshop and storytelling.

"We've also tried to make the exhibition more interactive. For some paintings, viewers can use an augmented reality app and this makes the artwork come alive through voice, video or movement," says Subramaniam, who hopes to break barriers through this initiative. Started in 2017, this is the first time the event is being conducted in Bengaluru.

"People always think transgenders are only sex workers. And similarly, art is always thought to be elitist. But through this exhibition, I want art to belong to everyone," she says.

LENS ON LOVE

After bagging accolades in festival circuit, this city-based filmmaker talks about his short movie that is now being screened on Disney + Hotstar

A still from the film

The film explores the strength inside a woman. It is not the strength associated with chest thumping toxic masculinity but a subtler inner feminine strength

Prataya Saha, filmmaker

EXPRESS FEATURES

As an independent filmmaker, Prataya Saha has a firm belief in the movies he makes. It's probably this and a lot of hard work that has landed Saha's film, The Good Wife, a spot on Disney+Hotstar. The film which started screening earlier this week has done the rounds at several festivals and has won awards in Chicago and Toronto.

Set in Dec. '92 in Kolkata, the stories have been inspired from Saha's childhood. The movie revolves around the highs, lows, joys, defeat and triumphs of a simple 'housewife' in the course of a single day. For instance, the story meanders in the day of one such woman walking through the streets of a curfew-hit city to get her husband's favourite food on the occasion of her wedding anniversary, which he may or may not even remember. As the plot continues, she eventually understands that her love for him is as real as her years of social conditioning. "We have tried to explore the strength inside a woman. It is not the strength associated with chest thumping toxic masculinity but a subtler inner feminine strength," Saha, who adds, "We not only transported the audience visually to an era 25 years ago, but also, retrospectively threw light on how little (or how much) has changed over the last two and half decades in the lives of these seemingly 'Good Wives'."

Though the 17-minute film takes place over the course of one day, the entire process of planning and shooting took 11 months, and began in May 2018. "The journey with this film has been nothing short of a terrific experience, especially in the international circuit," he says about the film which has been produced by Red Polka Productions, a city-based theatre and film production house founded by Anshulika Kapoor.

He faced some budget constraints too. "For example, we didn't have the budget for a sound technician. So we had to create the foley sounds by breaking down the 17-minute film into 30-second segments and then recreating the sounds for the scenes," he says, adding that the process took six months, for which we had to shell out ₹35,000. "The total amount spent on the film was ₹2.5 lakh which was a big deal for us. But we didn't want the quality of the film to suffer and had to manage this with a minimum budget, which required a lot of planning," says Saha.

Music lovers demand a museum in memory of classical vocalist Pt Bhimsen Joshi in Gadag

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR

With the Union Government deciding to celebrate the birth centenary of the doyen of Hindustani classical vocalist Pt Bhimsen Joshi, music lovers from his birthplace, Gadag, are now seeking a museum in his memory. South Western Railway recently installed busts of Joshi at Hubballi and Gadag railway stations, and fans are now demanding a museum that depicts the Bharat Ratna awardee's life history.

Arvind Huilgolkar, a disciple of Pt Joshi, who also heads the Bhimsen Joshi Pratisthana, Gadag, said, "A museum or open-air theatre in the name of Pt Joshi is necessary to give a message to our future generations. His achievements will be an inspiration for future generations. We will be happy if the government provides us a place at any of the gardens in town or some other place within the town limits."

Manjari Hombali, a classical vocalist, said, "A memorial is a must to understand his legacy and make children and youth aware of the famous musician."

Though Joshi lived his later part of the life in Pune, he was born and brought up at Gadag and learnt music in Kundgol of Dharwad district. He was the disciple of Sawai Gandharva and later become the torch bearer of Kirana Gharana of Hindustani music.

SETU BANDHA SARVANGASANA

(BRIDGE POSE)

In Sanskrit, Setu means 'the bridge,' bandha means 'lock,' sarva means 'all,' anga means 'limb,' and asana means 'pose'. It is one of the basic backbend poses that prepares one for advanced backbend versions. It is a great posture to remove the toxic substances from the body and to prevent diseases. This posture improves circulation of the blood in the body and makes the spinal cord strong. Many problems can get rid of by practicing this pose regularly.

STEPS

- Lie flat on your back. Fold your knees and bring your legs closer to your hips (the knee has to be at 90º to the spine).
- Maintain a distance between your feet and hips on the ground. Distance from the pelvis should be 10 to 12 inches, and the knees and ankles should be in a straight line.
- Inhaling, put the weight on your hands and slowly lift your hips up. Then, take the arms under your hips and knees and interlock the palms.
- Now, breathe and lightly lift your lower back from the ground. Then, the middle and the upper part of your back should also rise up.
- Then, gently turn your shoulder and try to touch your chest without folding your chin.
- Maintain the balance of your body weight on your shoulders, arms, and legs and leave the palms open on the ground.
- Keep your thighs parallel to each other. Breathe slowly and normally.
- Stay in this pose from 30 to 60 seconds. While remaining in this posture, slowly breathe out.
- Repeat this full pose at least 10-12 times.

BENEFITS

- Reduces back pain. Helps to strengthen muscles and spine.
- Gets rid of anxiety, backache, fatigue, insomnia and headache.
- Relaxes the brain and helps reduce stress and mild depression.
- Helps to get rid of thyroid problems.
- Improves digestion system.
- Relieves you of menstrual pain.
- Stimulates the abdominal organs, lungs, and thyroid.
- Removes symptoms of menopause.

LIMITATIONS

- People who have severe pain in the knees, neck, back, shoulder or waist should avoid this.
- Pregnant women can practise under the supervision of a yoga expert.
- For the pose, avoid turning your head from left or right.

'EVERYONE HAS REALISED THE VALUE OF A SIMPLE HOME-COOKED MEAL'

says chef Sanjeev Kapoor as he talks to CE about immunity-boosting recipes, his love for South Indian sambar and chutney, and more

SANATH PRASAD

FOOD has been the go-to choice of comfort for many during the pandemic. So it's no surprise that Sanjeev Kapoor has been busy cooking up a storm the past few months. In conversation with CE, the chef reveals how his team and he have been curating many immunity-boosting recipes these days. "Palak Khichdi, Amla Kadhi, Fresh Turmeric Rice, Lasooni Palak and kaadhas are some must-try recipes," says Kapoor. Besides conducting online cooking sessions for his fans, the chef has also played mentor and principal judge for the Young Chef Olympiad (YCO) 2021 organised by the International Institute of Hotel Management (IIHM).

The contest is virtually hosted across the globe with participants taking part in different time zones. "I think, this is the first time, something as huge as YCO has been organised on the online platform, globally. I am overwhelmed by the scale of the competition and the response that it has been receiving," says Kapoor.

While the pandemic continues to linger on, he believes India's indigenous ingredients have given its citizens better deterrence against the virus. "If you talk about the good ol' masala dabba, we have got spices like turmeric, cinnamon, cardamom, pepper, cloves, that have been our saviour since childhood days. I enjoyed my share of amla juice and achaar in the past few months," says Kapoor, who is also a big fan of the simple ghar ka khaana. "I feel that everyone has understood and realised the true value of a simple home-cooked meal. I don't think any other food can even come close to the comfort of a simple kadhi-chawal or rajma-chawal, for me. We are more grateful than ever for our indigenous supplies," he says.

His culinary adventures have taken him to different parts of India but when it comes to Bengaluru, the chef is all praise for the city's ghee and coconut oil infused food. "I love South Indian cuisine and have tried the street-style Mysore Dosa. It is nothing like what I have always had at other places. The sambar and chutney are also exceptionable. Besides, I enjoy having a soothing cup of hot coffee every day as well."

The pandemic also witnessed the birth of many home chefs and Kapoor is only too happy to see more people take up food as a profession. "One should never be afraid to try something new. You might tumble in the beginning but the fruits of your labour will be sweet and bring you happiness and laurels," he says. So, what's his advice to the new crop of chefs? "Never stop being a student — the more you learn, the more you share and grow."

MANGALAVARA RAJAADINA: STYLED IN SIMPLICITY

Director: Yuvin
Producer: Team Trivarga
Cast: Chandan Achar, Gopalkrishnan Deshpande, Lasya Nagaraj, Jahangir, and Rajinikanth

A SHARADHAA

With Mangalavara Rajaadina (for barbers/hairdressers, Tuesday is considered a holiday for ages), writer and director Yuvin drives the story through light-hearted, conversational episodes that portray the lifestyle of the aspirational and struggling life of the middle-class.

Weaving his tale around a barber/hairdresser and his son, Yuvin consciously envelops it with simplicity, well-knit with humour. Madheva (Gopalkrishnan Deshpande), a barber, is a strict disciplinarian, who cuts short his son Kumara's (Chandan Achar) education after 6th standard and pushes him to follow his footsteps of taking forward the salon business. Kumara, a big fan of Sudeep, has one wish -- to style the star's hair. His attempt to fulfill his fanboy moment is one part of this comedy family drama, mainly highlighting the father and son relationship, and the hurdles the family faces when they plan to expand the business. It also craftily brings in those friends, who are there through thick and thin -- all this more or less realistically connects to the common man's life.

The film manages to capture the essence of a local salon's activities, and beautifully translates them into a reflection of the lives of ordinary people. Exploring a relatable theme, Yuvin engages the audience with some fun dialogues and double entendres in the first half, especially involving Sheetal (Lasya Nagaraj) who befriends Kumara, Martin Luther (Jahangir) who promises to get him to meet Sudeep, and Kumara's childhood friend Abhi (Rajinikanth). The director has brought the feeling of this youth idolizing his star since childhood in a neat way through Kumara's character.

However, the way he goes about connecting with the celebrity may not hold that steam till end, especially in the second half because the whole fanboy moment and the thrill of meeting the star gets diluted with family issues and becomes just another normal story, but the director gives a hint of a sequel keeping an open end.

RATING 3/5

Yuvin has chosen the right actors to play various characters. Chandan Achar, who was previously seen playing character roles in Kirik Party and Avane Srimannaryana, plays a full-fledged hero's role, and he has put his best foot forward. Chandan gives a natural performance, while Gopal Krishnan Devaiah rightly portrays the middle-class life. The rest of the actors find the rightplacements.

A theme-based music and background score by Prajoth D'Sa and Ritvik Muralidhar, the catchy title track penned by Yogaraj Bhat help to showcase the different of a hair dresser's life.

In short, Mangalavara Rajaadina, gives a vivid picture of a middle-class family, and a commoner's dreams, whole also catering to all sections of the audience.

Aditi Prabhudeva

INSPECTOR VIKRAM: IT IS PRAJWAL DEVARAJ'S PAISA VASOOL SHOW ALL OVER

Director: Sri Narasimha
Producer: Vikhyath A R
Casting: Prajwal Devaraj, Bhavana Naveen, and Raghu Mukherjee

RATING 3.5/5

A SHARADHAA

NAANU Karnataka police department na erandane kohinoor vajra..." When Prajwal Devaraj, as Inspector Vikram, delivers this familiar dialogue, the expression is one of intensity mingled with a devil-may-care attitude. This dialogue acts as a callback to the 1989 film of the same name starring Shivarajkumar. In his directorial debut, Sri Narasimha, brings back the title and the characterisation.

Prajwal brings in a certain freshness to the character, and is entertaining in this cop-comedy thriller. As for the plot, Vikram (Prajwal) is a happy-go-lucky cop, who is also serious about his work. Though he is chided for his amateur attitude, his intellectual manner of handling crime is appreciated by his seniors. A drug investigation takes him to Manipal. It is love at first sight for Vikram with a girl whose identity is not revealed at the beginning. Head over heels, he proposes, which is dismissed, but he never gives up. Later, Vikram is shocked when he realises that the girl he is in love with is part of a drug gang and the friction aggravates when he is accidentally shot by her. This equation between Vikram and his love, Bhavana, is quite well-etched and fun.

The second half is where Inspector Vikram becomes an action extravaganza. The investigative side of Vikram is ingeniously written and forms the crux of the film. Darshan, in his special appearance, of playing a star's role portrays his off screen persona of being a saviour.

Sri Narasimha explores action, comedy, love and family sentiments in Inspector Vikram, and brings out the talent of Prajwal, who does a commendable job in an all-round performance. Credit should also go to dialogue writer Guru Kashyap, who has blended funny lines as well as applause-worthy punch dialogues. Special mention to the inventive stunts choreographed by Thriller Manju, Different Danny, and Vinod. One cannot miss out on the majestic appearance of the 'Challenging Star' Darshan — an added attraction and a treat to watch.

Bhavana's character is not run-of-the-mill and she plays the role with ease. The director introduces a fresh villain in Raghu Mukherjee to Kannada industry. However, the film has certain flaws and it was most evident in the regular climactic showdown between hero and villain.

Some catchy music and pleasing background score by Anoop Seelin and Naveen Kumar has come up with a visual treat with his cinematography. Inspector Vikram is Prajwal's show all the way with other actors coming in as good support. With entertainers being the need of the hour, this can be a paisa vasool.

A spy romance that lacks tact

CE FEATURES

Hindi cinema has a set track for its female spies: quit your life and dreams to infiltrate a hostile nation, feign coyness or overfamiliarity, fall in love and then sacrifice said love for your mission. The routine has become so banal that it takes a Raazi (2018), which at least tried to capture its protagonists' emotional journey, to rescue it. Even then, that dull old question returns: is love beyond duty?

Lahore Confidential, a film by Kunal Kohli out on ZEE5, takes the most tiringly circuitous route to find that answer. The film is about Ananya (Richa Chadha), an Indian agent sent in to tail terror-funders in Pakistan. Her particular target is Rauf (Arunoday Singh), a charismatic socialite thick with Lahore's diplomatic elite. In the spy cinema handbook, this can only mean one thing: even as Ananya courts her new acquaintance, sharing his love for Urdu poetry, she's also setting herself up for a fall.

Lahore Confidential is written and created by Hussain Zaidi. The crime writer's name made me expect some glimpses into the world of cross-border espionage. No dice. The spies in this film are an ordinary bunch, convening in the back of trucks and calling their target 'ISI ka tattu'. "Our source has been compromised," informs one of them while speaking over an open network. They also speak in a low, furtive whisper, which makes dialogue hard to hear (I was using headphones and still found myself inching closer to the screen).

The romance is just as unexciting. Richa dials herself down to the point of invisibility. Arunoday — a stout, imposing actor — tackles the shayari well, his gentleness eventually lost in a shroud of intrigue. Rauf is a bit of a Batman: orphaned, multi-faceted, floating his private justice. He isn't opposed to killing though, dressing up for sneaky hit jobs that look more Crime Patrol than Assassin's Creed.

The city of Lahore is created through green screens and establishing shots; the effect isn't perfect but does the job. It's been an anxious few weeks for politically-minded cinema in India. Kunal and Zaidi try not to rock the boat — when Ananya briefly brings up Balochistan with her friend (Karishma Tanna), she's curtly told to 'stay out of it'. That's how far female spies can get in our movies. Anything else is, sadly, off-limits.
